Welfare Fraud Check System Threatened

Berrien and 18 other county social services departments in Michigan must stop making ADC recipients file new monthly client reporting forms unless the state legislature approves the reporting system by Friday.

Ingham County Circuit Judge Thomas Brown, who issued the order Tuesday, gave the state social services department until the end of this week to get approval from the House and Senate appropriations committees.

Berrien is one of 19 counties that began using the reporting system last month. Aimed at eliminating errors and fraud, the new reporting system requires Berrien's 4,400 ADC recipients to fill out a form each month, according to Wesley Bowerman, director of Berrien's social service department.

Changes in circumstances — for instance income or number of eligible children living in the recipient's home — show up on the form, Bowerman said.

Speaking about the new system, Bowerman said: "Not only do we (administrators) like it much better, but we feel there has been a great deal of acceptance from the client population."

Tuesday's order stems from a suit filed by the Legal Services of Michigan, representing nine welfare recipients and taxpayers. "We are alleging that it (the client reporting system) is in fact a waste of money," said Attorney Edward Hoort.

The estimated cost of the system is $41,000 a month for printing, processing and mailing costs. Officials say they consider that a minor sum compared to the estimated $8 million to $15 million a year reduction in illegal and overpayments.

The judge's order does not affect Genesee and Ingham counties, where the reporting system was started on a pilot basis in September 1976. It was expanded last month and now includes 19 other counties.

These are Berrien, Branch, Clinton, Dickinson, Grand Traverse, Ionia, Isabella, Lenawee, Livingston, Luce, Mason, Mecosta, Missaukee, Newaygo, Ogemaw, Oshtemo, Sanilac and the Inkster district of Wayne County.

Unless the system is approved by Friday, the department could not require welfare recipients in those counties to fill out the client reporting forms. Judge Brown said the restraining order would be in effect at least until Jan. 2, when a showcause hearing is scheduled.

"We're trying to get a statement from both the House and Senate appropriations committees to get approval to move forward for 19 additional counties," Paul Allen, chief deputy director of the department said Tuesday. "We hope we can because we feel that every report we've given the legislature on the subject has shown its benefit to both client and workers of eliminating errors."

Michigan paid out more than $696 million in welfare benefits last year to families with dependent children.

The client reporting system, already used in many other states, requires welfare recipients to fill out forms asking questions about their income and eligibility.

State officials said they hoped the system would help reduce overpayments and other errors by giving them better records of income changes that could affect a client's eligibility to receive welfare benefits.

Allen said the system has caused a decrease in errors in Ingham County. He said the number of errors rose in Genesee County because of factors unrelated to the client reporting system.

Counties in which the system was not used showed an average 9 percent drop in errors last year.

New Search Starts To Find FBI Chief

By MARGARET GENTRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Help wanted: FBI director. Must be bright, aggressive and committed to the law. Mental and physical stamina essential for working long hours, settling tough internal arguments, and facing frequent public criticism. Rewards include $57,500 salary, a measure of fame and substantial power. Apply to the attorney general, Washington, D.C.

The Carter administration once again is sending "help wanted" signals after U.S. District Judge Frank Johnson concluded that his health problems prevent him from becoming FBI director.

Attorney General Griffin Bell announced Johnson's decision at a news conference Tuesday. He said he and President Carter may agree on a replacement by Jan. 17, when Congress returns from a recess.

Bell asked the current director, Clarence Kelley, to postpone his scheduled Jan. 1 retirement until mid-February. Kelley was to give Bell his answer today.

In a statement from his Montgomery, Ala., office, Johnson said his slow recovery from major surgery last August had forced him to step aside and to ask Carter to withdraw his nomination.

"It will be several more months before I will regain my strength and stamina," Johnson said. "It will not be fair to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or to me to keep this matter pending any longer."

The Alabama judge was Carter's first choice for the job, and the president will have a tough time finding another nominee with such broad support. Civil rights groups that have criticized the FBI for past abuses of individual rights praised Johnson for his judicial decisions protecting the rights of school children, prisoners and mental patients.

FBI agents and other law enforcement groups generally were pleased with Johnson's record of imposing stiff prison sentences in criminal cases.

"Johnson has become the standard, and it's going to be a helluva tough standard for anyone else to come up to," a department official remarked.

Bell, who will recommend a potential nominee to Carter, said he does not plan to rush into a decision.

"My plan is to do nothing for two weeks to let the dust settle and rethink the selection process. Hopefully, during that time, names will occur to me. I think it would be a wise course not to rush," Bell said.

As the talent search resumes, speculation turned first to four men who were recommended last June by a presidentially appointed screening committee.

"We still have the list," Bell said, adding that he does not feel any more bound by it now than he was before. Johnson was not on the list because the search committee thought he was unavailable. He had turned down Carter's initial offer, saying that his mother's ill health obligated him to stay near her in Alabama.

After she was placed in a nursing home and her health stabilized, Johnson let it be known he was interested in the job. So Carter put aside the committee's recommendations

House Okays Help With Heating Bills

By ROB WILSON

Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A $47.5 million plan to help low-income and elderly persons pay their winter heating bills is now under consideration in the Senate.

The bill passed the House on a 102-2 vote Tuesday.

The plan, sponsored by Rep. Thomas Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, would give $125 to a family of four with an income of about $7,000 a year. A family of the same size earning about $4,000 or less would qualify for a maximum $250 payment, Mathieu said.

The benefits would be paid to utility companies by the state, and the utilities would then credit individual accounts. Each family qualifying would be eligible to receive one payment, and the measure would expire next September.

The program would be paid for from $32 million in federal funds and $15.5 million in state money. The federal money comes from a reimbursement to the state from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"It's a one-shot bill, and it's not a perfect bill. But it's the best we have and we're running out of time," Mathieu said. The bill is slated to take effect Jan. 15 and must be approved by the Legislature before it adjourns in mid-December.

Passage of the Mathieu bill came as a defeat for Gov. William Milliken, a Republican, who had offered his own plan dealing with winter utility bills.

Milliken's strategy was to amend the Mathieu bill to implement his own proposals, but those amendments were rejected by the House.

The governor's plan would have trimmed up to 25 percent from utility bills at a cost to the state of about $30 million. But Democrats argued that the Republican plan created too much paperwork and did not provide enough relief.

"There's a problem out there that's bigger than $47.5 million," House Speaker Bobby Crim said. "A lot more money could be used, but let's pass this now while we continue to try to provide more relief."

After the Republican amendments were defeated, Republicans rallied behind the bill.

"Regardless of the difficulty of what we're doing ... there is a need for the bill. Utility costs are an important part of any family's budget," said Rep. William Bryant, R-Grande Pointe.

He also urged the governor to approve the bill when it reaches his desk.

The House also approved and sent to the Senate a bill prohibiting most bosses from snooping on the telephone con-

Viets Adrift On Sea Of Despair

By EDDIE ADAMS

AP Special Correspondent
KHONG YAI, Thailand (AP) — "I will die! I will die! I will die!" screamed the aged Vietnamese woman aboard the boat of no smiles.

Forty-nine other sick or hungry refugees, half of them children, sat in silence or wept uncontrollably on the deck of the weatherbeaten 30-foot fishing boat that had brought them from Phnom Penh, off the west coast of Vietnam, through the dangerous waters off Cambodia.

They thought they had reached freedom that hot November day when they entered the small harbor of Khong Yai, a tiny fishing village within shouting distance of the Cambodian border.

But Thai marine police, armed with M-16 rifles, refused them permission to come ashore and moved the crammed fishing boat three hours back out into the Gulf of Siam.

Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries that have more than 100,000 refugees from Indochina on their hands are becoming increasingly hostile to new arrivals from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

U.N. and U.S. Embassy sources estimate that those who flee Vietnam by boat — the boat people — have a 30 percent to 50 percent chance of survival.

The Cambodian Communists may shoot up the small boats as they travel along the coast. Sea bandits have been known to seize refugee boats and kill everyone aboard for their valuables.

The Vietnamese usually escape in small fishing boats not built to withstand the dangers of the open sea. They generally leave home short of food and fuel. Some are lost at sea.

If they do reach Thailand or Malaysia, the police or the navy send them back to sea. The last boat allowed to dock in Thailand arrived Nov. 18 with 10 persons aboard. The Thais arrested them all. The U.S. Embassy helped get them freed, and they are reported emigrating to the United States.

A few days later the boat of no smiles was turned away from Khong Yai.

Naked children were crawling about the small cabin, and an infant fed at its mother's breast.

The only other space protected from the punishing rays of the sun, the chill night fogs and the soaking waves was a tiny hold for fish. Three people were trying to sleep in it.

All the others were on deck, using rags and towels as cover against the sun. They were wearing the only clothes they had brought with them.

A 6-year-old boy had pneumonia. A Thai fishing boat gave some medicine to him.

Not a pair of shoes was to be seen. The refugees' feet were swollen, lacerated and blistered because they hid in the woods until they made their break at 8 o'clock one night, barefoot and dressed in rags so as not to attract attention.

The oldest person aboard was a woman in her late 70s. The youngest was a girl born Nov. 21 in the fish hold in Nguyen Na's 30-year-old wife, Thi. The 21-year-old father had been a medical corpsman in the South Vietnamese navy, trained by the U.S. Navy at San Diego, Calif. He delivered the baby.

The young couple said they wanted to name their daughter Freedom — if the voyage ended in freedom for the family.

Most of the 14 men, 11 women and 25 children aboard broke into tears when Thai officials ordered them back to sea.

Their fuel was used up on the five-day voyage and they had also run out of food. After buying them supplies, this correspondent tried to go aboard. The Thai officials would not allow it at first, then relented.

The Vietnamese asked for maps and directions to Australia, more than 3,000 miles to the south. The police told them they had no maps for them but pointed in the general direction.

After the police had towed the boat out to sea for three hours, they took in their 300-foot tow rope and prepared to return to Khong Yai. The Vietnamese shut off their engine and told the police it had broken down.

The police told them to get moving because the Cambodian Communists patrolled the area. They warned that if they tried to return to Thailand, police guns would be waiting.

"If we must die, we must,"

New Census Battle Shapes Up In House

Come March, 1980, several millions of Americans, possibly as many as 80, will receive an inquiry from the Census Bureau.

This is the Constitutionally mandated census which for generations has been set by Congress for the beginning year in each decade. April 1st is the countdown date.

What the questionnaire will inquire into is already a debate between the Commerce Department, the parent bureaucracy for the Census Bureau, and Cong. William Lehman, a Florida Democrat, who is chairman of the House Census Subcommittee.

Juanita Kreps, the Commerce Secretary, wants the freedom to make a wide ranging inquiry into where some 215 million Americans live and how they live.

Lehman contends that an overly detailed form will be tossed into the wastebasket by many of its recipients and the Bureau will wind up spending a bundle of money for incomplete, misleading data generated from those who dutifully respond.

He cites a recent experiment by the Bureau in Camden, N.J., where half of its residents failed to answer a test form prepared by the Bureau as proof of his argument.

The most controversial part of the dispute is the Bureau's proposal to require a respondent to state his or her income.

It revives a proposal of several years ago which fanned a wave of rhetoric in Congress about unnecessary intrusion into privacy.

The Bureau defended its intention as an aid to the business community.

Such demographic information, said the Bureau, will enable the suppliers of goods and services to market their wares more effectively, thereby improving their capabilities to hire more people, and so on, and so on.

The dispute was settled by the Bureau backing away from an exact answer. The respondent was given an option of checking a bracket wherein he would fit into an approximated definition.

Prior to that eruption the Bureau caused a great commotion with a question asking whether the respondent had indoor plumbing. It was the forerunner of the government's attempts to determine what is the poverty level in the U.S.

One version of the 1980 form now before the House Post Office Committee and which has Lehman's endorsement would limit the basic inquiry to one question each on name, age, birth, sex, address, heritage, number of dwelling units per building, number of rooms per unit, whether the building was constructed before 1940, and the names and addresses of any nonresidents in the unit on census day. The latter is designed as a numerical check on vacationers, family visitors and other constituting a population in float.

Additionally, the Bureau could sample with a more detailed form on economic background, provided Congress approves the form.

Mrs. Kreps contends the House is too inelastic to be effective.

Neither she nor Lehman seemingly differ on phase of the 1980 census. Both rely upon the voluntary response to the mailed inquiry.

The Bureau went to mailing as a substitute for the census taker going door to door years ago. It was both an economy measure and safety factor. A number of census takers were being unhandled by irate residents.

A great deal rides on the next census.

It will become the basis for apportioning House seats, always a nerve-racking experience for Representatives from states losing population to other areas.

It also serves as the indicator for federal aid programs to states and local communities which are funneled out on a head count.

The Bureau estimates it undercounted the 1970 population by 2½ per cent, and that it missed the black population overall by 7 per cent and young, black males by 18 per cent.

This resulted in many communities losing out on federal aid and led to numerous discrimination cases being filed in court.

The Lehman plan is expected to start full Congressional review early next year.

The Florida Democrat admits it is not the sexiest issue before Congress, but expresses confidence its predicted cost saving features will obtain its approval.

Present Generation Curious About Hitler

Adolph Hitler is enjoying a modest revival. Der Fuhrer is once again an "in" topic. In the past year virtually every German magazine has carried articles on Hitler or other Nazi leaders. Last summer a documentary film about Hitler played to capacity audiences in most of Germany's large cities. Hitler souvenirs were marketed to tourists throughout the country. In recent auctions, Hitler's officer's cap brought $2,000 and an autographed copy of Mein Kampf sold for $870.

The Hitler nostalgia has extended to the rest of Europe and the United States. Numerous books on Hitler and the Nazi period have been published in Britain and the United States in the past two years. A 1976 biography of Hitler by John Toland became a best seller. A controversial book, Hitler's War (1977), by British historian David Irving maintains that prior to October 1943 Hitler knew nothing of the mass murder of Jews and that he never ordered their extermination.

Many Germans wonder whether all the attention Hitler is now receiving signifies a revival of the Nazi movement. There is fear that the recent outburst of terrorism in Europe might trigger a longing for Hitler's brand of law and order. Countess Marion von Donhoff, publisher of the liberal weekly Die Zeit, dismissed this notion as "absurd." The circumstances that paved the way for the rise of Nazism in Germany no longer exist, she maintained.

Most observers attribute Germany's so-called Hitlerwelle (Hitler wave) to the fact that German schools do not fully cover the history of Hitler's rise to power. Time magazine quoted a Munich university student as saying, "For the majority of us Hitler remains an enigmatic, almost ridiculous phenomenon. Though we have never understood it, there is no reason why we should not at least try to find out."

Annual Reminder From The Head Man!

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

READER TAKES AIM AT HART'S COLUMN

Jeffrey Hart's column in your Nov. 26 edition is another prime example of the non-informed babbling anti-hunting element. I can understand anti-hunter's disgust with "slob hunters"; surely law-abiding outdoors sportsmen don't care to have this kind of person in the field. But just once I'd like to hear constructive criticism from the anti-hunters, instead of lies, exaggerations, and plain stupidity.

Hart talks about the vast horde of hunters driving around in pickup trucks potting deer, after climbing out of a truck (?). There were about 100 guys (one woman) hunting in the Upper Peninsula area where we hunted this season. I didn't see anybody jumping out of trucks to pot deer. Talking to a couple DNR people we learned there were about 30 legal bucks taken out of this 20 square miles of Michigan's up. Michigan's vast hurdle this year was around 700,000 hunters. That, by the way, is $3¼ million just in deer hunting licenses, which is used to maintain a strong deer herd.

Hart's story about the hunter who was stopped by a state policeman because he had a cow on the hood of his car — come on now, that is just not believable. I've milked a few cows when I was a kid. Some of the Holsteins went about 800 to 1,000 pounds. I just can't imagine how anyone could put a cow on his car hood and then be able to see to drive.

I read in this paper of the tragedy involving the FBI official who was killed by a hunter. I've seen a lot of deer and hunters in the woods and can't see how anyone can mistake one for the other — not to the extent they shoot something. The basic rule when using firearms is to know what your target is. Taking a shot at a mouse or movement is asking for trouble.

Mr. Hart was upset about his cat being caught in a steel trap.

I don't know how he determined the trap was illegally set but I do know cats are terrific natural hunters. I'm not surprised his pet got in trouble if he doesn't have brains enough to keep his cat under control. When pets are left to run wild we invite the risk of having them run over by cars, get into rodent poison, and any number of problems. Owning pets, like hunting, takes a good deal of responsibility. I don't think Jeffrey Hart understands that responsibility and I know he doesn't understand anything about hunting.

LANDLORDS OPPOSE MOVING HEART UNIT

Robert O. Stafford, President, Board of Trustees Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency 8125 Lovers Lane Kalamazoo, Michigan 49002

Dear Mr. Stafford:

At the monthly meeting of the Berrien Landlord Association this past week, the subject of the proposed removal of the open heart surgery unit came up for discussion and debate. As has been the case throughout Berrien County and surrounding areas, everyone was vehemently opposed to the proposed theft of our open heart surgery unit. Much unrecognized time and effort has been put forth by Mercy Hospital personnel and other involved local individuals in organizing and building an open heart surgery unit second to none. Now that the citizens of the Berrien County area are becoming aware of the unit's existence and value, we recognize and assert the fact that it is our unit, we need it, and we intend to keep it.

According to the Health Systems Agency plan, a major reason for removing the unit would be to save costs. Whose costs? The removal of the unit would not save Berrien County residents a penny. Besides the transportation costs to a patient and his family would have "The Mighty Hunter." Mrs. George (Frances) Kesterke of 1411 Miller drive, St. Joseph, gained the title from her family and friends, when she recently shot and brought down a 200-pound black bear while hunting near Gould City in the Upper Peninsula's Mackinac county. Mrs. Kesterke said the animal came to within 15 feet of her when it fell "with a blood-chilling roar." She has hunted in northern Michigan for 30 years, although she doesn't particularly seek bear, her reaction: "This can be the first and last bear."

Direct Mail Pays Huge Dividends

WASHINGTON — It is difficult, to put it mildly, to picture ultra-conservative Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., on the cutting edge of political change.

But when it comes to campaign financing, Helms is blazing a trail which others may very well try to follow in the years ahead.

A full year before he must face the North Carolina voters in his bid for a second term, Helms has raised an astounding $1.7 million in campaign contributions — roughly five times as much as any other candidate for the Senate next year.

Only three 1976 senatorial contenders spent that much money for the primary and general elections combined, and they were running in states far bigger than North Carolina.

Sen. John H. Heinz III, R-Pa., shelled out $3 million, of which $2.5 million was his own money, while former Sens. James Buckley, R-N.Y., and John V. Tunney, D-Calif., spent $2.1 million and $1.9 million respectively on losing efforts to retain their seats.

Unlike these and other big sponsors of yesteryear, Helms has built up his war chest almost entirely from small contributions averaging about $13 per donation.

His secret weapon? Direct mail wizard Richard Viguier, who has targeted fund-raising appeals at conservative true-believers all over the nation.

Viguier's "prospecting" operation for Helms didn't come cheap. The senator has spent almost as much money as he has raised, and at least 40 percent has gone right to Viguier.

But Helms now has accumulated a list of more than 100,000 sure-fire contributors who will be tapped again and again in the coming year, at minimal cost to the campaign.

In some respects, Helms is uniquely positioned to capitalize on a direct mail fund-raising scheme. Over the past couple of years, he has gradually emerged as a hero to the far right.

He has traveled widely, speaking to conservative groups all across the nation, and has lent his name to a variety of issue-oriented crusades by organizations opposing big labor and big government.

His leadership role in the fight against the proposed Panama Canal treaties has solidified his reputation with the right, and turned him into the second-biggest conservative money raiser, behind Ronald Reagan.

Nonetheless, the direct mail technique Helms is using to finance his re-election campaign is likely to be employed by more and more candidates in years ahead, regardless of whether they have a readily identifiable pool of potential contributors to target.

The reason is simple. Campaign reform laws of the past few years have clamped strict limits on the amount both individuals and organizations may legally contribute to political candidates.

Although business and labor groups continue to pour millions into congressional campaigns through their political action committees, only the most powerful members of Congress — such as committee chairmen — can hope to garner enough money from these special interests to finance their campaigns.

Other senators and House members, especially those who are not personally wealthy, must rely on small donations to survive. The day of the fat cat is over.

Direct mail, despite the enormous start-up costs, pays tremendous dividends. His Senate colleagues may sneer at Helms' hide-bound political views and his utterly predictable voting pattern, but they are gazing with awe at his campaign bankroll.

Dollar To Be Put In Its Place?

WASHINGTON — The one-dollar bill may be an endangered species. One can hardly purchase anything for less than a buck these days. So the U.S. Treasury is seriously studying the feasibility of putting the dollar in its place — by turning it into a coin, designed to jingle in the pocket alongside other lesser coinage.

U.S. Treasurer Azie Marton feels this might also help up usage of the new two-dollar bill, which banks resist circulating because their cash drawers aren't designed to handle it. Singles now get such heavy use they wear out about every 18 months and must be replaced by new bills from the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing. By contrast, five- and ten-dollar bills last for several years.

A new dollar coin would be smaller and of lighter weight than the old extinct silver dollars, which really weighed a fellow down.

Money, however, isn't everything.

Sen. Mike Gravel of Alaska and wife, Rita, were pleased to rub elbows at the White House with old and new movie stars in celebration of the American Film Institute's 10th anniversary. Until it came time to go home, that is.

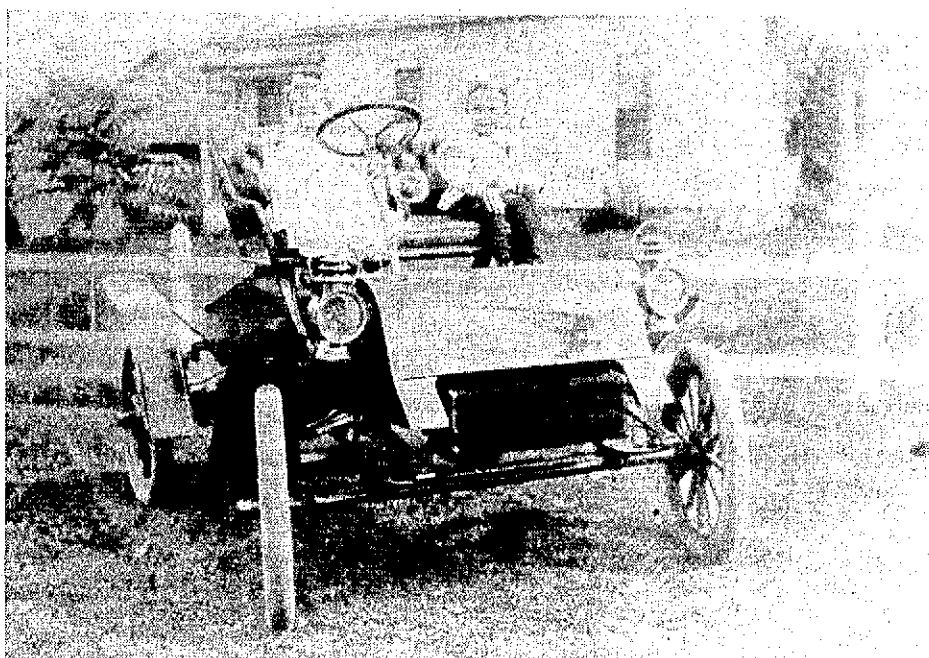

Rita Gravel's wool coat was 1900's. It's the mark of real class to be able to say your coat was stolen at the White House. One occupied by a born-again Christian, at that.

Speaking of Senate wives, that was a familiar-looking, attractive Polish female decked out in a cheerleader costume, complete with pom-poms, short skirt, sweater and hobby socks, at Washington airport recently. She was Mary Anderson, wife of Minnesota's Sen. Wendell Anderson, who put on the outfit to make sure an arriving Minnesota friend knew the welcome was really heartfelt.

Vice President Of ABCC Dies

Elmer Doane Smythe, 61, vice president and secretary of Appliance Buyers Credit Corp., died Tuesday afternoon at Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo.

Mr. Smythe, of 2102 Truman Drive, Benton Township, joined ABCC in 1957. The same year it was formed, and after several promotions in subsequent years was elected vice president and secretary in 1968. He started with ABCC as branch manager in St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Smythe also served as treasurer of Whirlpool Opportunities, Inc., an organization created to promote business opportunities for minority people.

He was a business administration graduate of Burdette College, Boston, and also attended Harvard night classes during the 1930's.

Mr. Smythe was born Oct. 11, 1916, in Waltham, Mass., and came to this area in 1959 from Kansas City, Kan. He was a naval veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, the former Dolores Olson; a son, Thomas, Allegan; a daughter, Etris, New York City; and a brother, Philip, Portland, Me.

He was a member of Sons of Norway Lodge and was a

Benton Man Collapses In Front Of Home

A 60-year-old Benton Township man was listed in "serious" condition this morning in the intensive care unit at Memorial Hospital after collapsing on the road from an apparent heart attack in front of his Meadowbrook Road home Tuesday afternoon.

Benton Township police said Mario Laurence, of 2290 Meadowbrook, was found lying in the street at 3:40 p.m. Tuesday by a passing motorist who called an ambulance and police.

Patrolman Robert Polmanter said Laurence apparently collapsed while walking in front of his home.

Woman Held On Drug Count

Benton Township police Tuesday arrested a Columbia woman on a delivery of phenylmethazine charge stemming from the Berrien Metro Narcotics Squad's recent raid.

Shirley Ellen Henderson, 24, of 224 Paw Paw Ave., was arrested by Patrolmen Gary Ruhl and Jim Coburn at the Salato Food Corp.'s plant on Red Arrow Highway. Police received information she was working at the plant and arrested her at 4:10 p.m., they reported.

Narcotics Squad Commander Thomas Exum said she is one of 39 persons named on warrants that the squad began serving Oct. 27. Exum said many of the 39 persons have been arrested.

BH Skating Rink Party Aids Youth

G & W Skate-O-Rama, 453 Highland Ave., Benton Harbor, sponsored a fund-raising skating party at its facility Monday that netted $170 for the Berrien County 70001 Program, according to Mrs. Stella Rolfe-Wayne, program coordinator for 70001.

The money will be used by the 70001 Program for future youth activities such as career field trips, achievement awards and recognition certificates, she said.

The 70001 Program offers pre-employment training for high school drop-outs between the ages of 16 and 22 and is administered through CETA funding.

Triax Hiring, Promotion Told

Triax Tube Co. in Benton Harbor has hired a general manager and promoted another man to superintendent, according to Robert Jackson, president. Hired as general manager was Joseph McArde, formerly operations manager at Stacey Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati. Promoted from plant foreman to superintendent was Robert Hodges, who has been with Triax Tube for the past two years.

McArde received a bachelor's degree from the University of Pittsburgh and his master's in business administration from the University of Chicago. He and his wife, Barbara, have five children, and plan to move to the Twin Cities area. Hodges was previously employed with Sunstrand Corp. in Dowagiac. He and his wife, Dorothy, and family live in Dowagiac.

Triax Tube manufactures metal tubing used in hydraulics, automotive, electronics and refrigeration industries. The company also produces trailers for potting plants. Jackson said the company has moved most of its metal tubing manufacturing operation into two buildings at the former Benton Harbor Malleable Industries plant. It is continuing to manufacture the potting plant trailers at its plant at 2564 M-139, he said. Triax purchased 60,000 square feet of the Benton Harbor Malleable plant, fronting on Eighth Street, in August.

Pre-Yule Strike Unlikely, Says BH Teachers' Chief

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The Benton Harbor Education Association will ride out the fact-finding process for deadlocked contract negotiations before teachers walk off the job, the president of the teachers' union said this morning.

Mrs. Camilla Hunt said that means a teachers' strike will probably not occur in Benton Harbor Area Schools before the school holiday break because the fact-finder's report will not be filed until sometime in January.

"On behalf of the BHEA, I would like to state at this time there is no date set for a teacher's strike in Benton Harbor," Mrs. Hunt said. "We are diligently working toward getting a contract and will continue to do just that until all avenues have been exhausted."

"I feel we would be very foolish to take any action before we hear the fact-finder's report," Mrs. Hunt said.

Mike Schroeder, chief negotiator for the teachers' union, said a fact-finder is scheduled to review contract offers Dec. 6 and 7 and will file a report in a minimum of 30 days.

Schroeder said a teachers' strike is a "definite possibility" if the fact-finding process fails to resolve the contract issues. Elaine Frost, an attorney from Detroit, has been appointed fact-finder for the Benton Harbor dispute by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission. The fact-finder may make recommendations toward solving the impasse, but the recommendations are not binding.

Benton Harbor teachers have been working without a new contract since classes started in the fall. The teachers are continuing to picket the school administration office after each working day.

Whirlpool Producing New Line Of Ranges

"Three years of engineering, planning and designing" went into the production of Whirlpool Corp.'s new line of ranges, said Edward H. Eisele, director of range engineering at the division in Marion, Ohio.

The new ranges are called "free-standing" to distinguish them from the "built-in" models Whirlpool has produced for several years, Eisele said. He said production began recently. Tests are now being conducted and the line will be introduced in February.

In the past, Whirlpool sold free-standing ranges purchased from a manufacturer. Beginning in February, Whirlpool will produce its own ranges, according to Eisele.

Discussing the three years of work that have gone into introduction of the line, Dave Whitman, merchandising manager for ranges, said: "Even before any basic concepts for the new range specifications were formulated, marketing feasibility studies were conducted to determine the likes and dislikes of current range products from consumers, distributors and dealers."

Results of the tests were turned over to Eisele and his Range Engineering Department.

James E. Davis, manager of product design at Marion, was responsible for the new line's engineering program, project schedule and basic design. He also coordinated the styling and features of the free-standing models.

Wallace Schmidt, product engineer for range engineering, designed the line's control systems and circuitry.

"Range engineering expertise and sound marketing input have been key elements in coordinating the project," Eisele and Whitman stated.

Joseph Carver Is Reappointed

JOSEPH CARVER
Reappointed To Board

Joseph Carver of St. Joseph has been reappointed to the Michigan Athletic Board of Control by Gov. William Milliken.

Carver has been on the board since 1961, when he was appointed by former Gov. George Romney. The state athletic board regulates wrestling and boxing in Michigan.

An avid sportsman, Carver is a former Benton Harbor auto dealer and has been active in a variety of civic activities, including Blossomtime, Inc., the Mercy Hospital board of trustees and the Twin Cities airport board.

Also appointed to the athletic board Tuesday was former Rep. Jack D. Payant of Kingsford.

Other appointments announced yesterday by Milliken include the first woman ever to serve on the Michigan Apple Committee. She is Shirley M. Pisch, the wife of a Blackford fruit grower, who succeeded Henry T. Nelson of Ionia. Nelson had served two terms and was not eligible for reappointment.

Reappointed to the apple committee was Lathrop fruit grower Daryl K. Peterson.

Woman Fined For ADC Fraud

By JOE HERMAN
Staff Writer

A Benton Harbor woman who received $686 in ineligible ADC funds during a seven-month period in 1976 pleaded guilty Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District Court to a misdemeanor welfare fraud charge.

Pleading guilty before Judge Leo K. Cook to a charge of welfare fraud under $500 was Barbra Lee Miles, 41, of 788 Thresher Ave. She was sentenced to pay fine and costs of $155 and also pay restitution to the Berrien County Department of Social Services.

Assistant Prosecutor John Fields said Miss Miles was allowed to plead guilty to the misdemeanor charge rather than a felony charge of welfare fraud over $500 because restitution had been made. Fields said the arrest resulted from a tip that Miss Miles was receiving unemployment compensation that she had failed to report to the Social Services Department.

Fields said the unemployment compensation Miss Miles received would have reduced the amount of ADC she received for her four children from June through December of 1976. Miss Miles collected a total of $1,788 during the period when she was only eligible to collect $1,092, according to the assistant prosecutor.

Foods For Hanukah

Hanukah will begin on the evening of Dec. 4 this year and continue for eight nights and eight days.

This is one of the most joyous Jewish holidays with customs similar to those of Christmas — giving gifts, lighting candles, decorating the home — yet distinctly Jewish in flavor.

Games are very popular for Hanukah. Card and dice games are played during the holiday season, but gambling for money is not allowed. The stakes usually are candles, nuts, raisins or other edible treats. The dreidel or spinning top is traditional at this time of year and children play this game of chance for sweet rewards.

Food is an important part of the Hanukah celebration and fried foods such as fritters and latkes (pancakes) are favored.

CORN FRITTERS
(Makes 18-20 fritters)
Three eggs, separated
One and two-thirds cups (one-pound one-ounce can) drained whole kernel corn
One-fourth cup unsifted flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Peanut oil

Beat egg yolks well. Stir in drained corn, flour, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Carefully fold the corn mixture into the stiffly beaten egg whites. (It is best to fry the fritters immediately after you have prepared the batter.)

Heat 1/4 to 1/2-inch depth of peanut oil in a large heavy skillet. Drop the batter by tablespoonfuls into the hot oil and fry on each side until golden brown. Add peanut oil to pan as needed to keep the proper depth for frying. Drain the fritters well on absorbent paper. Serve hot.

HANUKAH CRUILLERS
Two cups unsifted flour
Two tablespoons sugar
One teaspoon baking powder

One teaspoon salt
One egg, beaten
One-fourth cup sherry
One-fourth cup water
Two tablespoons margarine, melted
Three-fourths teaspoon anise extract
Peanut oil

Cinnamon sugar
Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt; set aside. Combine egg, sherry, water, melted margarine and anise extract until well blended. Gradually add to dry ingredients.

Form dough into a ball. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about five minutes. Divide dough into 12 equal pieces. Form each piece into a smooth round ball. Cover with a cloth and let stand 20 minutes.

Roll each ball on a lightly floured board into a four-inch round. Let the rounds stand for five minutes. Fry in deep hot (375 degree) peanut oil until puffed and golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Sprinkle crullers with cinnamon sugar or serve in a bowl with Brown Sugar Syrup (recipe below). Makes 12 large crullers.

Brown Sugar Syrup: Combine one-half cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1/4 cup water and a three-inch cinnamon stick in saucepan. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat and serve hot with crullers.

Club Circuit

Linoleic Acid Is Desirable

Polysaturated fats (most liquid vegetable oils except coconut and palm oils) should account for about two-thirds of the total fat in the diet.

Safflower, corn, soy and cottonseed oils are considered especially desirable because they also supply liberal amounts of an essential fatty acid called linoleic acid.

The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Lodger (Madelyn) Huelsberg, and Mrs. Bernard (Myrth) Kremers, both of Benton Harbor, and five grandchildren.

Sun Darkens Those Walnuts

Walnuts, just like people, get sunnied in the summer. That's why walnut kernels range in color from light gold to a dark amber, depending on the amount of sunshine the walnut receives prior to harvest. Walnuts on the south and west sides of the tree naturally get a deeper tan, and many cooks prefer these darker kernels for their richer flavor.

A Creative Christmas On A Crowded Schedule

Wouldn't it be wonderful if Christmas came gorgeously gift-wrapped and tied neatly with a bright red bow?

When you were a child, you probably thought that it happened just that way. But now that you are older, you know the absolute necessity of planning ahead.

The secret to a "merry" Christmas is to begin attending to its details early, knowing you will have to plan around homework, term papers, dating, baby-sitting, family chores, sports practices and school concert rehearsals.

Just do a little shopping, wrapping and baking each week. Adapt this general schedule to your individual needs and check off each task when it is finished. You will find that Christmas day will culminate a whole month of giving—with no need for regrets.

TWO WEEKS BEFORE CHRISTMAS (Dec. 11 to 17)

— Do last-minute shopping and begin wrapping presents.
— Because you have planned ahead, you have the time to add individual touches to your packages fashioned from fabric scraps, paper or other on-hand materials.

— Plan one night or weekend afternoon for a baking spree, and make Holiday Wreaths, Pixie Pretties and Festive Fudge Chippers. They will be on hand to enjoy after long hours at stores, to treat carollers and strollers and to greet drop-in guests.

HOLIDAY WREATHS

One cup butter or margarine
Three-fourths cup confectioners sugar
Two cups all-purpose flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon almond extract
One cup quick or old-fashioned uncooked oats
Red or green food coloring, if desired
Red and green candied cherries, cut up

Beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour, salt and almond extract; mix well. Stir in oats. Tint dough with red or green food coloring, if desired.

Shape rounded teaspoonfuls of dough to form six-inch long ropes. On ungreased cookie sheet, shape rope to form circle, overlapping ends to form top of wreath. Decorate top of wreath with candied cherry pieces. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 10 minutes. Cool one minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Makes about three dozen cookies.

PIXIE PRETTIES

Thirty-two caramels
Three tablespoons water
Three cups 100 percent natural cereal, coarsely crushed
One six-ounce package (one cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted
Melt caramels with water in 2-quart heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring occasionally. Place cereal in greased large bowl; pour caramel mixture over cereal, mixing until cereal is evenly coated.
With greased hands, shape to form one-inch balls; cool. Dip half of each ball in chocolate, twisting to decorate with swirl top. Place on wax paper; chill to set chocolate. Makes about three dozen.

FESTIVE FUDGE CHIPPERS

One fifteen-ounce package fudge chip cookie mix
One-half cup butter or margarine, softened
One egg
Three-fourths cup coarsely chopped pecans
One tablespoon grated orange rind
One-half cup chopped dates
Combine mix, butter and egg; mix according to package directions. Stir in pecans and orange rind, mixing well. Add dates; mix just until blended.
Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool one minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Makes about three dozen cookies.

THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS (Dec. 18 to 24)

— Finish wrapping gifts.

— Prepare Stained Glass Cookies, Christmas Candy Balls, Mock Pecan Pie Bars and Peanut Butter Spritzies to give away to friends and neighbors.
— Hand-deliver your elegant showcase cookies.

STAINED GLASS COOKIES

One cup margarine
Three-fourths cup sugar
One egg
One teaspoon vanilla
Two and three-fourths cup all-purpose flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One cup quick or old-fashioned uncooked oats
Three-fourths cup finely chopped nuts
Strawberry preserves
Apricot preserves
Pineapple preserves, tinted green

Beat together margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; blend in egg and vanilla. Add combined flour and salt; mix well. Stir in oats; chill several hours.
Roll out dough about 1/4-inch thick on surface sprinkled with confectioners sugar. Cut with three-inch assorted shaped cookie cutters. Using smaller cutter or sharp knife, cut out small design in center of half the cookies.

Sprinkle nuts over cookies with cut-out centers; press lightly. Place plain cookies onto pressed cookie sheet; top each with about one teaspoon preserves, spreading slightly. Top with nut-covered cookies. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about two dozen cookies.

CHRISTMAS CANDY BALLS

One cup sugar
One-half cup milk
One-fourth cup light corn syrup
One-fourth cup butter or margarine

One-fourth teaspoon almond extract
Dash of salt
One and three-fourths cups quick or old-fashioned uncooked oats
One-third cup chopped red candied cherries
One-third cup chopped green candied cherries
One and one-third cups chopped almonds, toasted
Combine sugar, milk and corn syrup in heavy 3-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat to soft ball stage (238 degrees) or until syrup dropped into cold water forms soft ball. Remove from heat; stir in butter, almond extract and salt. Blend in oats, cherries and one-third cup nuts.

Drop by level teaspoonfuls to remaining nuts, tossing to coat with nuts; shape to form one-inch balls. Chill; store in refrigerator. Makes about three dozen balls.

MOCK PECAN PIE BARS

Crust:
One cup butter or margarine
One-third cup sugar
One teaspoon vanilla
Two and one-fourth cups all-purpose flour

Filling:
Two eggs
Three-fourths cup sugar
One cup chopped pecans
Three-fourths cup corn syrup
Three-fourths cup quick or old-fashioned, uncooked oats
One-fourth cup butter or margarine, melted
Two tablespoons all-purpose flour
One teaspoon vanilla
For crust, beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla. Gradually add flour; mix well. Press into ungreased 15 1/2 by 10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 12 minutes.

For filling, beat eggs until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick and lemon colored. Stir in remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour over partially baked crust. Continue baking about 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cool thoroughly; cut into bars. Makes 1 1/2 by 10 1/2-inch pan of bars.

PEANUT BUTTER SPRITZIES

One fifteen-ounce package peanut butter cookie mix
One-half cup vegetable shortening
One egg
One tablespoon water
Chocolate shavings
Combine all ingredients except chocolate shavings; mix according to package directions. Chill about one hour.
Press dough through cookie press onto ungreased cookie sheet, forming desired shapes. Sprinkle with chocolate shavings. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) six to eight minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Cool one minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Makes about four dozen cookies.

ORANGE DREAM BARS

Oat Base:
One eighteen-ounce package oatmeal cookie mix
One three-ounce package cream cheese, softened
One egg
Two tablespoons orange juice
Two tablespoons grated orange rind
One cup chopped walnuts
For oat base, combine all ingredients in large bowl; mix according to package directions. Spread into greased 13 by 9-inch baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 22 minutes. Cool. For orange nut glaze, combine all ingredients except nuts; spread over base. Sprinkle nuts over glaze; cut into bars. Makes 13 by 9-inch pan of bars.

— Pass around Orange Dream Bars as you sing carols around the tree.

— Put last-minute surprise gifts under the tree.
— Sit back and enjoy the spirit of the holiday.
— Leave Santa's Stars and nicks out for good ol' St. Nick.

SANTA'S STARS

Three-fourths cup butter or margarine
One-half cup hot blend of corn, sugar and maple sugar syrups
One-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
One egg
Two and one-fourth cups all-purpose flour
One teaspoon soda
One-half teaspoon salt
One and one-half cups quick or old-fashioned, uncooked oats
Chopped walnuts or pecans, if desired
Milk chocolate candy stars or kisses
Beat together butter, syrup, brown sugar and egg until well blended. Add combined flour, soda and salt; mix well. Stir in oats; chill about one hour.
Shape to form one-inch balls. Roll in nuts, if desired. Place on ungreased cookie sheet; bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) about 10 minutes. Remove from oven; gently press chocolate candy into center of each cookie. Remove from cookie sheet; cool on wire rack. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen cookies.

FOUR WEEKS BEFORE CHRISTMAS (Nov. 27 to Dec. 3)

— Set budget before you begin.
— Buy cards, ribbons and wrappings (if not purchased at last year's post-holiday sales) and stamps.

— Complete buying, wrapping and mailing gifts for out-towners.
— Send out invitations before Dec. 1 for Christmas parties.

THREE WEEKS BEFORE CHRISTMAS (Dec. 4 to 10)

— Trim tree.
— Address and mail cards. (Accompany with personal letters, whenever possible.)
— Complete shopping for family and friends.
— Bake Snappy Ginger Cut-outs with children. They are more fun than work. Freeze some undecorated, sample some fresh from the oven and decorate some as edible Christmas tree ornaments.

SNAPPY GINGER CUT-OUTS

One seventeen-ounce package sugar cookie mix
Two teaspoons ginger
Two teaspoons cinnamon
One-half teaspoon cloves
One egg
One-fourth cup butter or margarine, softened
One tablespoon molasses
Combine mix and spices in large bowl; mix well. Add egg, butter and molasses; mix according to package directions. Cover; chill one hour.
Roll out dough 1/4-inch thick on generously floured pastry cloth. Cut with four-inch assorted Christmas-shaped cookie cutters. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) about eight minutes. Cool one minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Cool completely; decorate, if desired. Makes about three dozen cookies.

Oven Brunch Recipe Idea

Sausage and ham combine for a tasty, unique brunch idea. For each serving, place two frankfurter sausage links, side by side, and wrap with a slice of "boiled" ham. Fasten with rolls with a wooden pick.

Place each roll on a slice of pineapple on a rack in an open roasting pan and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until ham is lightly browned and sausage is done.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Healthy And Sexy At 65

Dear Ann Landers: I am a man 65 years of age who has been reading your column since 1960. I do not always agree with your advice but I respect you. I am in good health and so is my wife. She is 63 — a wonderful person, fine housekeeper, cook, and she did a beautiful job of rearing five children. The problem — sex. On my 63rd birthday she did me the grand "favor" of sleeping with me. She then announced that from now on I'd better forget about sex because, as she put it, "It's obscene for a couple of old fools like us to carry on like newbies."

I don't feel like an old fool. Although I'm not the man I was 35 years ago, I still have a lot of pep and am far from dead sexually.

Will you put something in your column about this subject? I'm sure I'm not the only person in the world with this problem and all too little has been written about it. Thanks, Ann. — Alan Alvie At 65

Dear Alan Alvie: I could say a great deal about the joys and healthiness of a good sex life that continues through the golden years, but you, and others who share the problem of a negative spouse (sometimes it's the husband), need more than the limitation this space allows.

Please send $1.95 on "Love And Sex After Sixty" by Robert N. Butler and Myrna Lewis (publisher, Harper & Row). It's a paperback that tells it like it is and will go a long way toward educating senior citizens in an area where so many need guidance and reassurance. I recommend this book as the best I've ever seen on the subject.

Open-Eyed Kids

Dear Ann Landers: What's so awful about kissing with your eyes open? I'll admit it's a lot more romantic when the eyes are closed, but sometimes my girl and I open our eyes in the middle of a kiss and we both get a big kick out of it.

Also, how does "Looking a Lot in Lansing" know when he has his eyes open if she isn't looking herself? — The Eyes Have It In Waynesboro

Dear Wayne: Several readers wrote to say they keep their eyes open when they kiss "to see if anyone is coming." Others said closed eyes mean you are fantasizing about someone else.

I still say people who kiss with their eyes open must get a little cross-eyed. Me — I always close mine.

Nobody's Perfect

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 45-year-old girl with a big problem. It's me. I'm always doing something dumb that could ruin me forever. Same old story. I didn't think of the consequences ahead of time.

My family is trying to build a business for me to run in the future. I'm O.K. for a while, then I'll do or say something really nutty that could blow it for good.

ANN LANDERS

I don't mean to be stupid or careless, Ann, it just comes naturally. Do you have any ideas that might help? — Gooty Gloria

Dear Gloria: Fifteen is pretty young to expect to do everything perfect. I think you are being too hard on yourself.

A problem recognized is a problem half solved. Analyze where you go wrong. Learn from your mistakes. Stop and think before you act — or speak. Sometimes five or six seconds can make a whole of a difference. Try it and you'll see what I mean.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11955, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Emma Bombeck New Furrows On The Brow

I'm always intrigued with those picture stories they do on the President of the United States that compare how he looked when he entered office and how, within a few short months, he has aged him.

There was one in the paper just week of President Carter. The article was quick to point out that within just 11 months in office, there were "new furrows in his brow, deeper creases in his cheeks, fresh lines around his eyes and more flesh beneath his chin, suggesting an aging process unrelated to time."

Big deal! Beside Dolores Finrock who just taught her teenage son how to drive, he looks like Donnie Osmond at a Prune Festival. Dolores was a beautiful girl.

"Dorian Gray lives!" I shouted. She shoved a stick of gum into her mouth without taking off the wrapper. "Don't kid around," she snapped.

"I'm not kidding, Dolores. You look terrible. What happened to your hairline? It couldn't be receding."

"Of course it's not receding," she said irritably. "I may have pulled out a few strands when Roger pulled over and parked just to change the knobs on the car radio."

"What's the matter with that?"

Sounds like he used good judgment. "On the median of the expressway?"

"You look like you could use a good night's sleep."

"I haven't slept since he parallel-parked. I put two garbages in front of the house and told him to park between them."

"What happened?" "He sideswiped our mailbox, ran down a 200-year-old blue spruce, and sunk the rear wheels over the septic tank."

"You can't go on like this. You're looking more like Abraham Lincoln every day. President Carter looks better than you."

"Why shouldn't he?" she snarled. "All he's got is the energy program. Lance, the Panama Canal and Andrew Young."

We heard the wheels spin, the brakes screeched and a garbage can rolled into the street.

"Wait! Amy gets her temps. You'll never see those straight, white, smiling teeth again."

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am wondering about the proper treatment of frost bite, and remembering last year's blizzards. As my husband was in a wheel chair, I did all the snow shoveling. In being outdoors every day, trying to shovel away the snow, my fingers were frost bitten. I used warm water, very warm on them and had no trouble with them.

My upstairs tenant said I was supposed to use very cold water, and I told her that was an old wives' tale, but she was adamant about her theory, so I would like your version.

I am 78 years old, and I remember my dad and mother using cold water, but that was a long time ago and conditions change. Now, I want to find out which one of us is correct.

DEAR READER — To put it simply, you are. It is a good time to remind people about this problem and what they can do about it.

Frosty cold finger is not a frost bite. The first sensation is painful cold, but by the time the tissue freezes, the tissue has already lost its sensation. That is why frost bite is considered a painless injury.

Some authorities refer to minimal injury as a "frost nip." The freezing causes crystals to form in the cells, and with a frost nip you can feel a "ping" as this occurs. The tissue of the involved area, such as the tip of the nose, ear, or fingers, may be white. With a deep frost bite, the tissue will become hard and in a word "frozen." The superficial frost nip will not cause any permanent tissue damage, as only the surface cells are involved, but a deep frost bite will involve at least the full thickness of the skin.

A simple frost nip will respond to warming with a warm hand or the hand of a companion. You can use warm water on it. There is no place in the treatment of a frost nip or frost bite for the use of cold water, snow, or any of those other ideas of yesterday that have been replaced by a better understanding of cold injuries.

If there is actually frozen tissue, it is better to let it alone until you can get someone to take care of it, as once it has thawed, it must be treated as an injury.

If the opportunity exists to get out and stay out of the cold, even re-warming a frozen part at body temperature is acceptable. You should be careful not to expose an injured part to excess heat, as from a camp fire. The part has lost its sensation and can be easily injured from too much heat. Then you will have both a burn and damage from freezing to treat. If circumstances permit, you can warm the area with water at about 100 degrees F., just about body temperature.

Take care to keep the area clean, and after it has been adequately warmed, separate the fingers with gauze if they are involved and provide protection for the part. Don't have anyone walk on a frozen foot after it has been thawed, as that will lead to further injury. The treatment until you can get medical help is simply gentle warming — no cold water or snow, please.

For information on factors that control your body temperature, send 50 cents for "The Health Letter" number 7-6, Body Temperature and Fever. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As the poet might have said, "A little caution now and then is relished by the best of men."

South looked over dummy. At first glance he thought about making an overtrick. All he had to do would be to ruff his two little hearts in dummy. Then he thought that overtricks were fine, but players who make their contracts do better than those who go down.

So, South gave up all play for the overtrick and decided to play safely for his contract.

At trick two he led a low heart from his hand. When West discarded South smiled happily. He had insured his contract provided trumps didn't break.

The defense tried. West checked a club. East cashed the ace and king and led a third club, but South ruffed, led his last low heart, ruffed with dummy's ace, drew trumps and chalked up the rubber. This wasn't a far-fetched safety play. East had opened with very few high cards. It was very likely that he held a six-card suit.

We are amplifying yesterday's rubber bridge answer to cover duplicate. In duplicate each player places his cards in front of him and when all have played the cards are turned over.

In the new duplicate rules, as soon as a player turns his card over he may not ask to look at that trick again except that in the event that a revoke is claimed all tricks may be inspected.

Body Of 8th Woman Found; 'Hillside Strangler' Hunted

By LAURINDA KEYS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 18-year-old girl's nude body was found lying along a narrow winding residential road — the eighth young woman in the last month and a half to be strangled and dumped on slopes or at the base of hills in the northern suburbs of Los Angeles.

Police are calling it the case of "the hillside strangler" — but now, because of the latest case, they think more than one strangler may be involved.

On Monday night, a neighbor reported seeing two large men force red-haired Laureen Rae Wagner's car to the side of the street just two doors from her home in the Sepulveda area of the San Fernando Valley, and drag her from it.

Other residents along the steep eucalyptus-lined Cliff Drive said they heard dogs barking persistently between 1 and 2 a.m. Tuesday, but did not recall hearing a car stop or pull away.

House Nixes Abortion Proposal

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, having rejected yet another compromise solution in the battle over government-paid abortions, faces increasing Senate opposition to providing funds for continuing the fight.

The Senate resolute could threaten funds for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare and paychecks for the two departments' 240,000 employees.

Appropriations for the departments are tied up in the abortion issue, and temporary funds provided earlier run out

Here's How They Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the roll call of Michigan congressmen Tuesday as the House voted 205 to 183 to reject a Senate-sponsored compromise on government payments for poor women's abortions. (X denotes not voting.)

Democrats — Blanchard yes; Butler no; Brodhead yes; Carr yes; Conyers xxx; Diggs xxx; Dingell yes; Ford yes; Kildeer no; Nedzi no; Traxler no.

Republicans — Broomfield xxx; Brown yes; Cederberg no; Pussell no; Ruppe xxx; Sawyer no; Stockman yes; Vander Jagt no.

at midnight tonight. The House effort to provide more temporary money was expected today.

The House on Tuesday turned down what some senators had referred to as their final compromise offer. Each chamber has taken five votes on abortion suggestions proposed by the other, with the House taking a more restrictive view than the Senate on use of government money for abortions for poor women.

The latest Senate proposal would have allowed government-paid abortions when a woman's life was endangered by a full-term pregnancy, for treatment of rape or incest victims who reported the incidents to authorities and where a woman would suffer severe and long-lasting physical harm if the pregnancy was carried to term.

The House rejected the proposal 205-183, with the defeat credited to lobbying by abortion opponents who argued the language was too liberal.

Even if another temporary resolution passed the House, Senate action was in question. The Senate was in recess because of the death Monday of Sen. John J. McClellan, D-Ark. And, frustrated by the House's refusal to accept compromises on the abortion issue, some senators said they would fight further temporary funding.

"I'll do everything possible to prevent another continuing resolution," said Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., an author of the latest compromise proposal. The two chambers have been arguing for four months over when the government should pay for Medicaid and social service program abortions, delaying passage of the $60.2 billion appropriation bill because HEW oversees both these programs.

Ruling Is Due On Delay Of U.P. Kidnapping Trial

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A federal judge is expected to rule today on defense motions that could delay the trial of an Upper Peninsula fugitive charged with kidnapping a Marquette woman.

U.S. District Judge Wendell Miles said Tuesday he wanted to consider the motion overnight, but would rule on the three defense requests this morning.

The attorney for Douglas Henry, 22, of Lansing, asked Miles to suppress potential testimony about alleged rapes, robberies and a supposed confession in the case. Miles assured defense attorney David Cassleman of Grand Rapids that juries will be asked before the trial opens what they have learned about the case since the jury was chosen more than a week ago.

Of the three defense motions, only the confession issue was argued Tuesday. That hearing lasted almost two hours after Miles rejected a request that he conduct the hearing in his chambers and without reporters present.

"It's not very good practice to exclude the press," the judge declared before denying the request.

Henry took the stand as the only defense witness on the confession question.

He insisted he was under the influence of vodka, cocaine and marijuana at the time two FBI agents said he made a statement to them at Des Moines, Iowa, after his arrest Sept. 1.

Henry also insisted he asked to call a lawyer in Lansing as soon as agents began questioning him.

Cassleman, Henry's court-appointed lawyer, contended the law requires questioning to be halted once a lawyer is requested — until the attorney can be on hand.

But U.S. Attorney James Brady argued, "What he (Henry) says doesn't wash," based on all the evidence given by the FBI agents.

Agents L. Joseph Hersley and Brian Mull, both of Des Moines, insisted Henry never asked for a lawyer until he was asked to sign his statement. They said he exhibited no signs of intoxication.

Both agents questioned Henry and it was Hersley who arrested him.

Henry is charged with kidnapping Evelyn Van Tassel, 56, of Marquette, from her Upper Peninsula cabin Aug. 25 and taking a stolen vehicle across state lines. She was rescued when Henry was arrested in Des Moines.

On Monday, Cassleman contended Mrs. Van Tassel told the FBI she was raped "between four and six times" by her abductor during her eight-day ordeal.

Youth Leads Rescuers To Crash

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — For two nights, high in the snow-covered Colorado Rockies with the temperature near zero, the survivors of a small-plane crash above the timberline shivered and hoped for rescue.

One of them, 15-year-old Charles Randolph, set out to find help.

Then, on Tuesday, it came.

A rescue helicopter spotted Randolph on a snow-covered slope, waving his arms. It picked him up, and he guided the rescuers back to the others.

In that way, six of seven Oklahomans who crashed aboard a twin-engine plane that crashed on Sunday night were found alive and airlifted out to be hospitalized.

A seventh person, C.B. Cameron, president of American Fidelity Insurance Corp., was found dead.

"It was a miracle that we found the boy at all," said Harry Stebner of Aspen, who was on the helicopter that spotted Randolph.

Stebner said Randolph was shivering and his face was deep blue.

"We dropped down and picked him up," said Stebner. "It was fortunate we were able to find. The poor kid was just blue with the cold and about as miserable as any individual could be. But fortunately he was coherent."

Randolph, who suffered the least serious injuries, told a family friend that he had set out Monday morning and had spent that night in a hunter's cabin. On Tuesday, he kept to the edge of a ridge, always keeping a creek on the same side, so he would not walk in circles.

"We just retraced his steps and there was the plane," Stebner said. It was difficult to judge the distance, Stebner said, but his guess was that Randolph had walked about three miles.

It was snowing heavily at the crash site, a bowl 15 miles west of Aspen on 14,130-foot Haystack Mountain. The area was inaccessible from the ground and all the injured were removed by helicopters using winches.

After picking up Randolph and traveling to the crash site, the helicopter was unable to land and hovered over the wreckage until another helicopter arrived at the scene. Then it took Randolph to Aspen for medical treatment. He was listed in fair condition with frostbite and neck injuries.

Heat Illness Expert Testifies

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The prosecution in the Chowchilla kidnapping trial is winding up its case with the testimony of a doctor who has said the kidnap victims suffered "serious bodily injury."

Dr. Delmer Pascoe, a professor of pediatrics and an expert on heat illness who underwent a day of cross-examination Tuesday, was expected to undergo more questioning today before leaving the stand.

He was expected to be the last of 19 witnesses called in the state's effort to prove that three confessed kidnapers caused bodily harm to 26 Chowchilla children and their school bus driver in July 1970.

The question of "bodily harm" is the trial's single issue. The defendants — James Schoenfeld, 26, Richard Schenfeld, 23, and Fred Woods, 26 — pleaded guilty to simple kidnapping but maintain their innocence on the bodily harm charge.

WISCONSIN IS EXPERIMENTING Big Lake Chub Outlook Brighter

By PETER B. SEYMOUR
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — A hard-nosed conservation project by fish managers may yet save Lake Michigan's commercial fishing industry for the Manhattan cocktail party.

The chub, a whitefish family member which commonly retails as smoked hors d'oeuvres and beer snacks, is under close scrutiny by the Natural Resources Department in hope of re-establishing its commercial value in Wisconsin waters.

When Leif Weborg's fishing boat docked recently at Port Washington with a two-day haul of 4,000 pounds of chub, he called it his best netting of the fish in 25 years and inspired smiles among DNR officials.

Ronald J. Poff, the DNR supervisor of fish management, said Weborg — and perhaps the lake's dwindling fishing fleet — may be on a threshold of recovery, thanks to the department's restraint of fishing exploitation.

An experimental restriction imposed three years ago "seems to be paying off," Poff said. "The 2-and 3-year-old chub which dominated the catch this year as 5-and 6-year-olds" while a new crop of youngsters forecasts the best spawning season in years in 1978.

The assessment program grants permits to nine fishermen for Wisconsin waters, allowing them no more than 30,000 pounds of chub a year. They bid up to $3,500 for a permit, selling the catch in port for 80 cents to $1 a pound.

Poff said processed chub, comparably less popular in the Midwest, retails at about $2.50 a pound on the East Coast, mostly as party and bar snacks, occasionally as a casserole ingredient.

This market, he said, could restore the chub production in Wisconsin to a million pounds a year. That would compare with the harvest of whitefish which is the most valuable commercial catch in Lakes Superior and Michigan now that pollution and predators have ravaged the ranks of chub. Great Lakes trout and other favorites.

If catch quotas and fleet limits prove capable of restoring fish numbers, Poff said, only one factor may remain to hinder a renaissance: tighter health limits by the government on the amount of chemical pollution which will be allowed in marketed fish.

The Wisconsin Legislature is considering a Senate bill which would let a commission regulate the number of fishermen or set catch quotas.

Such restraints draw the protests of the fishermen. But Poff said preserving the populations of the lakes' bread-and-butter fish types is in the best interests of the business.

"Hydraulic net winches, stronger and bigger nets, make the fisherman more efficient," allowing his increased catching capacity to wipe out the resource with his technology unless he is restricted, Poff said.

Weborg's success is the type of thing that may drive the point home to the industry, Poff said. Wisconsin, he said, has about 300 licensed fishermen, most of them operating part-time and waiting for better times.

"They are holding their licenses as speculation, I'd guess you'd say, waiting for an open fishery so they can cash in on the catch," he said.

Wisconsin allows licenses for only 20 commercial fishermen on Lake Superior, and the industry is similarly restrained in other Lake Michigan states.

Michigan, he said, limits the use of gill nets, reducing the fisherman's ability to catch the deep-water chub, and Illinois' management program has trimmed its permits to three fishermen.

A DNR task force in 1974 recommended limiting commercial fishing as a means of restoring specie population, especially a threatened variety.

Poff said the current nine-permit chub program is to include a closed season from January to March during the spawning season.

Toot Of Whistle Ends Dock Strike

WEEDHAWKEN, N.J. (AP) — Christmas gifts from Europe, crystal, china, imported cookies — gang foreman Nick Pasculli had them all waiting as the tiny hands of his watch moved toward 7 p.m.

Then a whistle blew, a crane lumbered into motion to unload Seatrail unit 310062, and the Atlantic and Gulf coast dock strike had ended — 59 days after it began.

"I thought in time for Christmas, now we'll have some money," said Joe Pasculli, the crane engineer. "I've been lucky, I only lost two weeks. I've been working every day doing maintenance on the crane," he added.

"I haven't been doing anything at all," Pasculli said.

"It's been a long one — a long strike. I hope it's for the best."

"Here come the Thanksgiving turkeys," a longshoreman joked as the first container headed for a waiting trailer frame Tuesday night on a windswept pier opposite the bright lights of Manhattan.

Similar relief was being felt today from New England to Texas.

In all but three Gulf Coast and Atlantic ports — Philadelphia, New Orleans and Mobile, Ala. — longshoremen voted Tuesday to end a two-month strike against containerized shipping, and most of the 50,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association were expected to resume working today.

Group Gets Land For Forest

DETROIT (AP) — A national conservation group has obtained a 2,200-acre addition to the Huron-Manistee National Forest in northwestern lower Michigan. The Nature Conservancy said Tuesday that it paid $700,000 for the property through an agreement with the Packaging Corporation of America, a Manistee-based subsidiary of Tenneco, Inc. A conservancy spokesman said the price was "below fair market value," but the assessed value of the land was not revealed. Part of the property fronts on the tree-lined Little Manistee River, a popular recreation area. Located nearby is the state Department of Natural Resources' fish weir where eggs are harvested each spring and fall from spawning runs of steelhead trout and salmon. The Nature Conservancy said it will transfer ownership of the newly acquired land to the U.S. Forest Service.

Six Challengers In 'Michigan'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Berkeley retiree hopes to add to his $107,000 winnings when he goes against six new challengers for the Super Player title Thursday in the Michigan Lottery's "Michigan" show. Gilbert Leach, 65, says he hopes to use part of the money for travel in the United States. To qualify for the Super Player competition, lottery ticket holders must match both the two-digit and three-digit winning numbers on a 50-cent weekly ticket. Qualifiers receive a $5,000 minimum prize and a chance at the Super Player spot.

The six challengers are: Sophie Dombkowski, 71, of Detroit; Derwood Nowak, 62, of Whitmore Lake; Southfield Public Schools driver Esther Schiller; Robert Smith, a 41-year-old Ford Motor Co. worker from Lincoln Park; Three Plus Two Club of Detroit, a club formed by three relatives and represented by Esme Marsh; and Edward Williams, 52, of Toledo, Ohio, who is unemployed.

Bar Owners Await Ruling

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The owners of a bar in Pinckney where seven minors were allegedly drinking shortly before an auto crash in which six died could lose their liquor license in the next two weeks, Michigan Liquor Control Commissioner Edward West said following a hearing this week he will decide within 14 days whether action will be taken against the operators of the Anchor Inn. If not revoked, the license could be suspended or the owners could be ordered to sell it. They also face fines of up to $300 on each of seven counts of selling alcohol to minors and seven counts of minors consuming on the premises.

'Wrecking Crewman' Hunted

DETROIT (AP) — Police are asking the public's help in finding an alleged member of the "Wrecking Crew," a gang suspected in at least one murder and more than 100 robberies. Authorities said they are seeking John James Brown, 31, of Detroit, in the robbery-slaying of a Detroit baker last spring. Named with Brown in a warrant issued Nov. 16 were Raymond "Cadillac Ray" Montastierski, 57, and John Nuhn, 49, of Warren. They are held in Indiana in the burglary of a home in Goshen. The Wrecking Crew is linked to more than 100 home burglaries and robberies in southeastern Michigan since 1974. The gang gets its name from its style of ripping apart the homes of rich elderly people in search of valuables.

Bell Likes Union Push

DETROIT (AP) — A union campaign aimed at blocking the swift rise of private-line telephone services has drawn praise from Michigan Bell officials. The campaign has been mounted by the Communications Workers of America, a 500,000-member union, which fears new developments in the telephone industry could cost jobs. Letters to CWA members across the nation urge them to express concern to their congressmen about the private-line companies which use microwave relay and satellite systems to provide point-to-point communication service. Telephone lines are not needed for such a system, CWA officials point out. If the new equipment gains widespread use by business firms, the Bell System will have to charge higher rates to residential users. There also will be a job loss for the CWA, they contend.

Law Prohibits Firing

DETROIT (AP) — Contempt of court proceedings have been started against a cleaning firm that allegedly fired one of its employees because he was called for jury duty. The employee, Hank Warren, 46, of Detroit, claims he was fired Nov. 1 after serving a week on the jury in an armed robbery case. Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Samuel Gardner on Tuesday ordered the Custodial Guidance Systems and manager Jerome Walker to show cause Dec. 12 why they should not be cited for contempt of court. Michigan law prohibits firing employees who are called to jury duty. Warren claimed in an affidavit filed with the court that Walker accused him of being "out of town" rather than on jury duty. Warren said the manager fired him when he refused to resign.

Oakland Wants It Done

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Oakland County has asked the Michigan Supreme Court to make the state finish building a highway through the county. The state Court of Appeals ruled Nov. 9 that the Oakland County Road Commission had no clear right to ask it in order the state to finish the proposed 37.8-mile Northwestern Highway. The commission appealed that decision Tuesday to the Supreme Court. The 5.2-mile highway now runs from a major freeway interchange in Southfield northwest to through Oakland County.

The Fine Is $2,100

DETROIT (AP) — An accident in which a falling smokestack broke a water main and flooded downtown Detroit streets will cost a wrecking company $2,100 in fines. The state Department of Labor said it is fining the Adams Wrecking Co. for the Nov. 13 incident at an abandoned Detroit Edison plant. Company employees were trying to lower the 50-ton smokestack when a guy wire supporting the stack broke. The smokestack toppled to the ground and broke a 30-inch water main, pouring eight million gallons of water into the street.

Bond Issue Rejected

OWASSO, Mich. (AP) — Voters in Caledonia and Owosso townships have rejected a $4 million bond issue that would have provided a central water system and treatment plant. The "no" votes were heaviest in rural farm areas. The special bond issue was defeated by a 3-to-1 margin. Most residents currently get their water from private wells, many of which have had problems because of recent drought conditions. Others are served by 30-year-old mains that hook up to the city of Owosso's water system.

Sex Offenses Charged

DETROIT (AP) — A 22-year-old Detroit man is being held on $15,000 bond on charges he had sexual relations with three mentally retarded women at the adult foster care home run by his parents. Preston Gibson was charged with third-degree criminal sexual conduct. Police said the incidents occurred during the last year. A Recorder's Court judge set Gibson's preliminary examination for Dec. 7.

A Funny Thing Happened...

Salty Tongues, Note

BOSTON (AP) — The next time you stub your toe, be careful about your choice of words — blasphemy still is a crime in Massachusetts. The Massachusetts Senate voted down a bill Tuesday that would repeal the 280-year-old law against cursing in the Lord's name. "We are opening the doors to destroying one of the Ten Commandments," cautioned state Sen. William X. Wall, as he urged his colleagues to reject the measure. But a colleague, state Sen. Alan Sisitsky, read aloud the Massachusetts law. The penalty for blasphemy, he told the chamber, was a fine of up to $300 or a year-long prison sentence. The Senate had given the bill initial approval in August, but Tuesday's vote, according to state Sen. David Locke, came "after enough of them (senators) had come to their senses."

He's One Of The Family

EAST GREENBUSH, N.Y. (AP) — Volunteer firemen led tenants away from a smoky fire at an apartment complex, but one resident pleaded to return. He pestered the firemen. He begged the chief. But he wouldn't say what was left behind. Finally, a fireman led him back into the building. Three minutes later the man returned with a large snake wrapped around him, firemen said. The unidentified man said the snake was his pet boa constrictor, but didn't want to stay and talk. "Once outside, his primary concern was that his snake would catch cold," an official said. "So, he wrapped it around him once and stuffed the rest in his pocket until he got to the car."

Pay's Poor, But It's Easy

WEST WINFIELD, N.Y. (AP) — Wanted: Someone to monitor the rain gauge near this central New York town. The job pays $6 a month and $1 for special reports. Plus, there's a free gauge. Mabel Howard, 72, who along with her husband has reported rainfall for 20 years, is giving up the job because she broke her hip last winter. "I guess there comes a time when you can't do things too good," she said. The Millers started reporting rain years ago when he put up a gauge at the feedstore where he worked. His wife took over the operation at her home when he died in 1970. Mrs. Howard said the job requires reading the gauge in the morning, and phoning the National Weather Service if more than half an inch has accumulated. If it's less, she mails in a report.

He Teaches Santa Claus

MILWAUKEE (AP) — This is the season when Stan Solomon puts on a white wig and beard, pulls on shiny black boots and a red velvet suit, and travels around the country, training people to be Santa Claus. "Once you put the costume on, once you step out, you've got to believe you're Santa Claus," he tells his trainees. "The characterization has got to come from inside." At the height of the season, Solomon, 40, holds three training sessions each day — teaching the temporary Santas how to put on their beards and wigs, how to get into their costumes, and how to make children believe they've visited with the real toy bringer. But the work isn't all kindly smiles and a lot of "Ho Ho Hos." Some kids drop ice cream or candy in your beard. Occasionally a nervous one wets his pants, Solomon said. And there are the beard pullers, or those who like to punch or poke because they think Santa is a stuffed animal.

UNIVERSITY DEAN DIES

versions of their employees. Under the bill, telephone eavesdropping would be prohibited by everyone except for police and telephone companies. The phone companies would be allowed to continue monitoring only on a restricted basis in which both parties are aware that they're being overheard.

"We've had a great expansion in the amount of equipment used to monitor in recent years, and that poses a threat to the privacy of our citizens," said Rep. Mark Clodfelter, D-Flint, the bill's sponsor.

The bill allows phone companies to listen in only by preceding the monitor with a "beep tone." The tone would have to sound at the start of each monitoring session and be repeated at 10-second intervals.

Stiff penalties are called for in the legislation. A violation would be considered a felony subject to a maximum two years in jail and a $20,000 fine. Anyone making or selling monitoring devices would be liable for the same penalties.

Burger Blames Slow U.S. Justice On Unqualified Lawyers

LONDON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger says the legal process in the United States is one of the slowest in the world, and one of the chief reasons is that about half of America's lawyers are not qualified to represent their clients. Testifying in July before an official commission seeking ways to streamline the British legal system, Burger said British courts are faster and cheaper than those in the United States.

"A case that is tried on our side — generally taking five to 10 days — will be tried here in one day ... or two at most, both civil and criminal," he said. The panel released a transcript of his testimony Tuesday.

The chief justice said he asked American state and federal judges to rate lawyers who appear before them. "The most pessimistic view was that only 25 percent ... were really qualified to represent their clients properly. Some judges placed it as high as 75 percent. Somewhere near the midway mark is probably correct, and it will vary to some extent from place to place," he said.

said a young woman as the police pulled away. "It's better than to live under communism. If we return to Vietnam, we would all be killed."

She added that she had never thought anything could be so horrible and ugly as life in Vietnam today.

Half an hour later, the police returned with orders from Bangkok to remove me for my own safety. Under no circumstances was I to remain.

Tunnel

Safety

Rules Set

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — New safety standards to provide greater protection for tunnel construction workers have been implemented by the state Department of Labor.

Describing every tunnel as "a potential bomb while under construction," Labor Director Keith Molin said Tuesday the standards are a temporary measure to increase safety while permanent rules are developed.

Among other things, the new rules include more stringent requirements for air quality and ventilation in tunnels. Also required are weekly air tests of unoccupied sections near work areas, tougher medical exams for employees working in compressed air, and increased reports from contractors to the Public Health and Labor departments.

The new regulations will be in force for six months while permanent standards are drafted, according to Molin.

Molin said the new standards seek to avert dangers inherent in tunnel construction. Previous regulations dealt mainly with mining operations.

Michigan has had two tunnel explosions since 1971. One killed 21 workers in Port Huron and another killed a man in Mount Clemens. Both were blamed on an accumulation of methane gas.

A Vietnamese woman was disappointed. She felt that if I stayed aboard, some country might accept the boat.

A former Vietnamese navy seaman aboard said they had no compass or map.

"The stars and the sun have guided us this far," he said. "We don't know how long our luck will hold, but this is only the beginning. More and more will escape no matter what it costs. Only the very rich can survive now in Vietnam."

Then the boat moved away, its meager supply of water and fuel in a few rusty cans. A white shirt was tied to the bow by the sleeves as a flag of truce.

I rode for several hours with the marine police. We returned to the general area in which we had seen the boat last. We heard what sounded like machine-gun fire, but there was no sign of the refugees or their boat.

Carter Trip Is On Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter finally goes on his delayed foreign tour, he will make up for two postponements with two unprecedented events: a wide-open news conference in a Communist country and a visit to the Normandy beachheads of World War II.

A revised travel schedule will not be announced until later this week, but Carter is expected to leave on Dec. 20 to visit six nations, three less than originally planned.

His first stop is Warsaw, Poland, where he will field questions from Polish journalists and their western colleagues at a news conference.

The trip also will take Carter to Iran, India, Saudi Arabia, France and Belgium. He is expected to return home on Jan. 6 or Jan. 7.

Regional Planners Object To Credit Union Grants

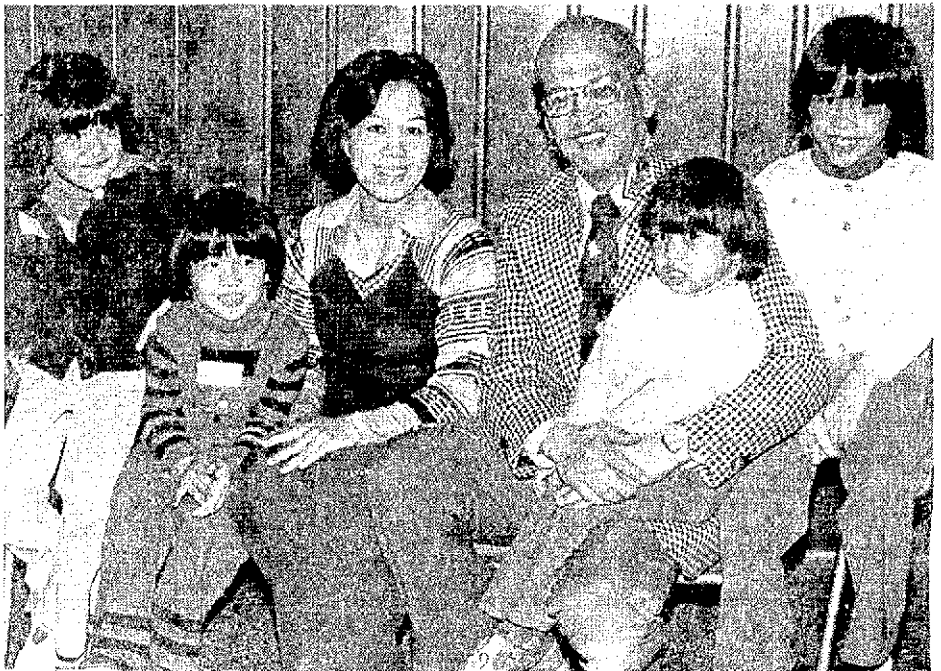

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

CASSOPOLIS — The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission Tuesday reviewed with "negative comments" a request by Berrien County Action Inc. for $80,479 in federal funds to staff a credit union in Benton Harbor.

The regional planning commission, meeting at the Cass County Commission Chambers here, voted unanimously to forward the application for the Peoples Community Federal Credit Union to the federal Community Services Administration with the negative comments attached. But Lee Auble, executive director of BCA, said the county anti-poverty agency has already been informed that the funds will not be granted because money is not available for that type of application.

Charles Eckenstahler, SWMRPC executive director, said planning commission members voiced objections to the grants because they felt it was in conflict with existing private credit unions and that administrative costs for the credit union were much higher than necessary.

Artist Mugged In Detroit Likes Motor City Anyway

By SUSAN TAYLOR MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Argentine portrait painter Gino Corinaldesi was mugged and stabbed in Detroit, but picture this — he still likes the Motor City. "This accident that happened to me in Detroit could have happened to me any place," said Corinaldesi, 77.

Driving an ancient Ford van, Corinaldesi pulled into Detroit earlier this month on the final leg of a five-year, two-continent journey. He got permission to park his van at a downtown gas station and set up housekeeping. Corinaldesi was returning from a grocery store Nov. 18 when two youths jumped him. One almost strangled him with a piece of rope, then stabbed him in the side and chest when Corinaldesi dropped the groceries and started to struggle.

"For a moment I thought it was a joke," he said through an interpreter in an interview this week. "It didn't cross my mind somebody would try to attack me. Then I started to defend myself when I realized I was going to get killed." Corinaldesi wound up in Detroit General Hospital where he became an instant favorite. The doctors and nurses pampered him. The boys at the gas station brought him a basket of fruit. So did two girls who were passing through Detroit when they heard of his plight.

Although he lost a lot of blood, Corinaldesi made such a fast recovery he was released after only a week. "We're having trouble keeping him still," laughed Henry Van der Pui, president of the Detroit chapter of the Argentine Association of America. The association found a temporary home for Corinaldesi with one of its members.

Corinaldesi, a lean, spry man with all his hair and most of his teeth, credits his stamina to a positive mental attitude. "My philosophy is, 'Eat to live but don't live for eating,'" he said. "And don't give up when you get old. Always stay active."

To practice what he preached, Corinaldesi left Buenos Aires five years ago in his "Ford T" van — a converted 1925 Model T runabout with space to eat, sleep and paint. Corinaldesi's destination was Dearborn, Mich., where he planned to donate his van to the Henry Ford Museum. But the Ford barely made it. In Ecuador the motor cooked out. In Paraguay its chassis was bent in an accident. In Colombia it was hit by a truck. The tires were so bald by the time Corinaldesi got to Washington, D.C., that a kind-hearted Texan bought him a whole new set.

If the Ford Museum doesn't take the van, Corinaldesi said he will tow it back to Argentina or arrange to have it shipped back later. He says he couldn't bear to sell it or junk it. Although the van is on its last legs, Corinaldesi is still going strong. He wants to do a portrait of Henry Ford II. He also wants to return to Washington to see how President Carter liked his portrait, one of many Corinaldesi did of leaders of countries he visited. "I like the United States and I'm sorry I didn't spend more time here," Corinaldesi said. "When I go back to Argentina I will learn English and come back to visit some more."

The county board in October, 1976, according to Roger Petrie, county coordinator.

Auble said BCA made the application for the federal funds at the request of the Peoples Community Federal Credit Union, but was later informed that funds are not available.

"We want to be supportive of it, that's the reason we did endorse the application," Auble said. "Our intent was to support a credit union that people who don't work in large factories can join."

The Peoples Community Federal Credit Union, at 420 E. Main St., was chartered in 1969 to serve the Model Cities neighborhood of Benton Harbor and Benton Township. In 1975, the charter was amended to include all people living or working in either the city or township.

The regional planning commission also attached negative comments to BCA's application to staff the credit union in 1976, but the credit union received the funds, according to Eckenstahler.

In other action, the regional planning commission approved a $291,650 budget to operate the planning agency for the 1979 calendar year.

Money for operation of the planning agency comes from contributions from Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, and grants from state and federal agencies. During 1979, $35,200 is expected from the three county governments. $25,000 is anticipated from the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, and $31,450 will come from various federal agencies.

A majority of the $291,650 budget, $106,339, is proposed for salaries, fringe benefits, and travel expenses for the agency's 12 employees. Other proposed expenses include a contract with an engineering firm to conduct a survey on water quality in southwestern Michigan, $35,836; office rent, $14,904; printing, $7,000; telephone, $5,400, and utilities, $1,000.

The regional planning commission also reviewed and recommended approval of applications by local agencies for $346,368 in state and federal funds.

A $276,888 grant sought by the Van Buren and Cass County CEJA programs to operate a youth employment and training program was recommended for approval. The funds from the U.S. Department of Labor will be used to provide an in-school program for 100 youths between 14 and 18 years of age.

Grants sought by the City of Niles and the City of Dowagiac to provide funds for the two cities' Dial-A-Ride transportation systems were also recommended for approval. Niles is applying for a $61,500 federal grant to provide 41 percent of the Dial-A-Ride system operating costs for one year and Dowagiac is seeking $8,000 to provide 28 percent of its transportation system budget. Both grants would come from the Urban Mass Transit Administration.

Widow Wins $100,000 In Police Car Smashup

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A $100,000 consent judgment in favor of the widow of a Coloma man who died 11 months after he was injured in an accident while being transported in a Bangor police car, was approved Tuesday in Van Buren Circuit Court.

Judge Meyer Warszawsky approved the agreement worked out between attorneys for plaintiff Terry Martelli and the defendants, the city of Bangor and two of its police officers, Carl Simpson and Mark Sticksels. The city's insurance firm will pay the $100,000.

Mrs. Martelli, 28, had claimed that her husband, John, died on Dec. 25, 1975 from injuries he suffered while under arrest in the patrol car on Feb. 11, 1975.

According to Van Buren

Sheriff's deputies, Simpson and Sticksels were headed west on Monroe Street near Morrison in Bangor, when their car went out of control, struck a street sign, then slammed into a utility pole. Martelli, 20, who was handcuffed in the back seat, suffered a broken neck.

Bangor police said that Martelli was being transported to the South Haven city jail after being taken into custody on charges of being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest. The accident occurred as Simpson, who was driving, glanced back at Martelli, who had allegedly spit at him, according to police.

The original lawsuit, which sought $2 million in damages, claimed the police officers had assaulted Martelli outside a Bangor bar, as Martelli sought to break up an argument between his mother and another woman.

The police said Martelli was arrested after he had been observed choking his mother, used obscene language, and had offered to fight the two officers. Both charges against Martelli were dismissed following his death.

Under the terms of the judgment, $32,500 will go to the St. Joseph law firm of Keller, Keller, Cragger, Kasick, and Roschman, which represented Mrs. Martelli. Of the remainder, Mrs. Martelli will receive 70 per cent, and her daughter 30 percent.

Bangor and represented by attorney John Doyle of Kalamazoo.

Foul Play Is Ruled Out In 2 Muskegon Deaths

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Foul play has been ruled out, but Muskegon County authorities are still puzzled about the deaths of two young, healthy women.

"We don't have a definite cause of death on either one," said Dr. Gordon Heller, deputy medical examiner. "We see no foul play and no evidence of any connection between the two."

And we have looked for parallels."

Heller said autopsies showed both Sheldene Taylor, 27, of Muskegon, and 16-year-old Sheila Cumbs of Norton Shores, died from natural but unknown causes in their homes last week.

Authorities said the Taylor woman was found dead last Wednesday, about 24 hours after fainting at a Muskegon restaurant. She received emergency room treatment at a hospital but was discharged and went home, where she died.

Miss Cumbs was found dead at the bathroom of her home Sunday. She was sick Friday but her parents said she seemed well again until Sunday night, when she complained of chest pains. Her body was discovered about 12 hours later.

Autopsies showed "no similar findings or symptoms," Heller reported Tuesday. He said both cases involved nonspecific symptoms "that didn't give us a whole lot of clues."

Heller said the investigation is continuing as authorities await results of tissue and culture tests.

He'll Return

MOSCOW (AP) — Pyotr Grigorenko, a former major general in the Red Army who became a leader of the dissident movement, left for New York today, vowing he would return in six months.

Grigorenko, 70, said he was going to see his stepson Andrei, an emigre who lives in New York City, and to have a prostate operation.

suffering a broken shoulder in a two-car accident in Baroda Township Tuesday afternoon.

State police from the Benton Harbor post said Bujaek was injured at 3:05 p.m. Tuesday when the car he was driving and an auto driven by Terry J. Glaske, 21, of Alpena Road, Three Oaks, collided. Glaske sought his own treatment for minor injuries sustained in the collision, according to troopers.

Trooper Charles Coleman said the accident, which occurred on Red Arrow Highway south of Lisco Road, remains under investigation and no tickets have been issued.

Wounded Teen Now In St. Joe

EAU CLAIRE — Jeff Juergensen, 17, Eau Claire, who was wounded in a hunting accident Nov. 15 near Manistee, was transferred Tuesday from West Shore Hospital, Manistee, to Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph.

According to his mother, Mrs. Edna Juergensen, Jeff will remain hospitalized at Memorial for about six to eight weeks.

SUPERINTENDENT: James A. Carpenter, 26, has assumed duties as superintendent of Paw Paw Lake wastewater treatment plant, Coloma. Carpenter formerly was superintendent of treatment plant at East Tawa, Mich. His salary has been set at $15,000. Plant is part of sewer system serving cities and townships of Coloma and Watervliet.

Rep. Gast To Address Landlords

State Rep. Harry Gast Jr., R-St. Joseph, will be guest speaker at the annual Christmas banquet of the Berrien Landlords Association to be held Friday at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

He is expected to discuss issues currently before the state legislature.

The affair is scheduled to begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by a buffet dinner at 7:30, according to Al Hart, president. Reservations may be made with Hart or Pat Schultz.

CANDIDATE: James Jesse, Buchanan attorney, said Tuesday he would seek Republican party nomination for four-year term as Buchanan Township trustee, in August, 1978 primary vote. Post is currently held by Dale Nelson. Jesse, 33, lives in Glendora Road in township. He and his wife, Jeanette, have one daughter. Post will be filled with other township officers in November, 1978, general election. (Staff photo)

DR. MAURICE REIZEN
"We Had No Dollars"

State Lacked PBB Control Funds--Reizen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's PBB crisis was allowed to run rampant partly because the state health department didn't have enough money to combat the problem, says the agency's director.

"We had zero funding. We stole and cheated and tried to get help wherever we could," Dr. Maurice Reizen said Tuesday. "We had no dollars for doing the physical examinations of the dimensions we encountered."

Reizen made the statements while testifying before a special House committee which is studying the effects of PBB, a toxic fire retardant, on Michigan Chemical Co. employees.

The defunct firm, now known as Velsicol Chemical Corp., manufactured the PBB, or polybrominated biphenyl, which was accidentally mixed with animal feed in 1973.

PBB was shipped accidentally to Michigan Farm Bureau Services, which had ordered a feed additive. Farm Bureau employees mixed the PBB with the cattle feed.

After the mix-up was discovered the following year, Reizen said, the department asked the state Department of Management and Budget, the Legislature and the federal government for money to cope with the problem.

But he said delays in approving money for health surveys and examinations allowed the problem to go largely unchecked.

"The department was not funded to do extensive testing of workers, and that holds as true today as it did in 1974. We have very little flexibility to make changes in our budget," he said.

The Legislature later appropriated funds to conduct PBB research and health examinations.

At the time the accident occurred, Reizen added, little was known about PBB.

"It was a new compound, and we knew very little of its toxicity or effects. This is an unfolding thing, with more and more becoming known all the time. But we don't by any means know all we need to know now about PBB," he said.

"By August of 1974, we knew there was a mix-up in cattle feed and that some cattle were affected. We didn't know then that hundreds of cattle were affected," Reizen added.

In late August 1974, the department had conducted preliminary examinations of some Michigan Chemical employees, but found the results inconclusive.

"We found no risks of its effects on individuals, but we took no stand then — and take no stand now — that there weren't any long-term effects," Reizen said.

The House committee, headed by Rep. Dana Wilson, D-Hazel Park, will continue taking testimony from public officials, former officers of the chemical company and its workers. The committee will issue a report of its findings to the House.

Shiawassee River Tested For PCB

By CYNTHIA KYLE
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources is hunting along the banks of the Shiawassee River for animals that might contain traces of a toxic chemical dumped into the waters two years ago.

The latest tests, included in some started earlier this month, follow the discovery of massive PCB contamination in the river's south branch.

Some fish — including pike, suckers and sunfish — downstream from the Cast Forge Co. held as much as 70 times the concentration of PCB allowed in food. Cast Forge is an aluminum plating facility in Howell.

PCB, or polychlorinated biphenyl, is a toxic industrial chemical known to cause illness in animals. It is suspected of causing cancer and birth defects in humans.

A state lawsuit filed earlier this month against Cast Forge alleges the PCB pollution stems from residue of hydraulic fluid formerly used in production processes. The liquid contained as much as 47 percent PCB.

Richard Powers, an aquatic biologist for the state Department of Natural Resources, said Tuesday the round of tests will include analyses of tissue samples taken from deer, rabbits, raccoon and muskrats.

"We just want to check to see if there's any PCB at all," he said. "There's a possibility, that's why we're taking the samples."

Although recent tests on milk from dairy cows that drank from the river failed to turn up detectable levels of the chemical, tests continue on game fish in the river and crops grown along the waters.

Meanwhile, the DNR continues to warn the public not to eat fish taken out of the river from near Howell to Owosso. The waters flow through farmland in two counties and into a state game area about 10 miles downstream.

The most recent sampling was to have included waterfowl, but Powers said DNR investigators could not find enough birds to test. "There just isn't any water fowl in there," he said. "It's not a good habitat and it's getting pretty late in the year."

So far, almost enough muskrat samples have been collected to be sent to the laboratory for analysis, Powers said, adding that lack of experience with some of the wildlife species was hampering investigators' efforts to collect the samples.

Russia Says 'Nyet' To Sadat's Conference In Cairo

KURT WALDHEIM
Wants New Meeting

ENSIO SILASVUO
To Represent U.N.

By ELIAS N. ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union, as expected, has sided with Arab opponents of President Anwar Sadat's Cairo conference with Israel, while Israel has rejected a proposal from U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim that everybody try to get together at a conference at a neutral site.

U.S. officials said Moscow pushed its "nyet" to Washington and joined Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization in refusing to attend the peace conference. Sadat called to pave the way for a new Geneva peace conference.

However, the Egyptian president's Arab opponents were divided among themselves, with Libya and Algeria scheduling one anti-Sadat Arab summit in Tripoli on Thursday and Iraq planning another one next week in Baghdad.

Syrian and PLO officials at U.N. headquarters expressed interest in the proposal, a spokesman for Waldheim said. But the Israeli Foreign Ministry said in a statement:

"Israel supports the idea of direct talks between the parties such as took place in Jerusalem and are about to take place in Cairo. No purpose will be served by holding an additional preparatory conference."

The statement added that the Geneva conference "should be reconvened following the Cairo talks."

The Amana House, where President Franklin Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek held their 1943 Cairo Conference, was being readied for Sadat's parley, but the date still was not announced.

However, the Israeli state radio said the talks probably would not get under way until next week.

Only Egypt, Israel and the United States will be represented. Syria, the PLO and the Soviet Union refused the invitation. Jordan said it would only attend if all the others went, and Lebanon said it would continue the neutrality it maintained during the four Arab-Israeli wars.

By turning down Egypt's invitation to attend preliminary peace talks, the Russians have left a clear field to the United States to resume its role of principal mediator between the Arabs and Israel.

But the Carter administration is so lukewarm to President Anwar Sadat's bold diplomatic initiative that there is little likelihood of Washington seizing the opportunity.

Administration policy-makers remain convinced that lasting peace cannot be achieved in the Middle East without Moscow's participation.

They are reluctant, therefore, to adopt the tactics employed by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger — keep the Russians on the sidelines while forging agreements based on mutual trust of the United States.

Also, these White House and State Department officials want to concentrate on a comprehensive settlement to be negotiated with Syria, which is flirting with Arab "rejectionists," who will not even accept the fact of Israel's existence, and creating a Palestinian homeland.

This course to Geneva is hampered by procedural obstacles the administration believes can be cleared only with Russian assistance.

And leading U.S. officials are reluctant to risk deepened divisions in the Arab world by aggressively supporting Egypt's overtures to Israel.

So, as Sadat goes further out on a limb, the administration considers with the Soviets on a high level, publicly urges on them a "constructive role" and, with no real enthusiasm, allows that direct talks between Egypt and Israel could be "useful."

Jane Byrne 'Delighted' To Take Witness Stand

CHICAGO (AP) — Jane Byrne, former Chicago consumer sales commissioner, has begun testimony before a federal grand jury investigating taxi-fare increases she says Mayor Michael A. Bilandic "groomed" through the City Council.

She told a civic group late Tuesday that she was "very delighted" to go before the grand jury.

Mrs. Byrne, who was fired from her job by Bilandic last week, reportedly has given federal investigators a memo describing alleged attempts by one cab company executive to pressure the city into approving the sale of 300 taxi licenses for $4.5 million.

The Chicago Sun-Times said in today's editions that the memo quotes President David Markin of Checker Motors Corp. as saying he wrote the city ordinances governing taxi companies himself and had a friend on the City Council pass them.

The newspaper said the memo, which was sent by Mrs. Byrne to the late Mayor Richard J. Daley in June 1975, describes Markin's threat to sue the city in federal court if Mrs. Byrne did not sign the transfer papers for the cab licenses.

The United States, after three days of official silence, announced that it would attend the Cairo meeting but did not announce its delegate. He was expected to be Philip C. Habib, the undersecretary of state for political affairs, or Alfred L. Atherton Jr., assistant secretary of state for the Near East.

Waldheim named Finnish Gen. Ensio Silasvuo, the coordinator of U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East, to represent him in Cairo.

Speaking at a news conference in New York, Waldheim cited the "limited" turnout expected at Sadat's meeting. He suggested that the lineup Sadat originally planned — Egypt, Israel, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, the PLO, the United States and the Soviet Union — meet in about two weeks at U.N. headquarters in New York or

Coal Miners Say They'll Fight For Survival Of Their Union

By DAVID ESPO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal miners will bunker down and strike until "hell freezes over" rather than give in to industry bargaining demands that would mean the death of their union, says one United Mine Workers leader.

face talks between the two groups.

to alter its contract proposals.

"We'll stay out (till hell freezes over) before we'll comply with their bottom line proposals, which would kill the union," said Clements. His reference to the pre-John L. Lewis days was in the period before 1920, when Lewis became UMW president.

The union, no longer as strong as it was in Lewis' heyday, is asking for a limited right to strike at individual mines over local issues as well as refinancing of nearly bankrupt health and pension benefit funds.

"They're going back to the pre-John L. Lewis days," Frank Clements, a union district president from Alabama, said Tuesday after attending a union briefing on the industry's bargaining positions.

Federal mediators, working to head off a walkout that could begin as early as next week, were resuming their shuttle today between union and industry negotiators in hotel rooms one floor apart.

The mediators took charge of the talks Tuesday and won a quick pledge of "concentrated and continuous negotiations" as they met first with one group and then the other in an effort to develop a bargaining climate favorable for face-to-face talks between the two groups.

Chief mediator Wayne Horvitz told a brief news conference that both the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, industry's bargaining arm, "have assured us they want an agreement."

But when asked whether a no-strike settlement is realistic, he said, "I don't know the answer to that. Mediators always have to believe you can reach a settlement without a strike."

UMW President Arnold Miller also sidestepped a question of whether a strike is inevitable, saying, "I couldn't say right now."

The UMW, whose 130,000 active members mine 50 percent of the nation's coal, is ready to call a strike when its contracts expire at midnight Monday.

Under union procedures, ratification of a new contract by the active members would take at least 10 days. Thus, a strike appears certain at 130 BCOA companies barring a last-minute agreement to extend the current contract.

A strike is not expected to have an immediate impact on the national economy. The union's share of national coal production has fallen in recent years, and the industry's best customers have stockpiled supplies to last at least 90 days.

But Horvitz said he had impressed on both sides in the dispute the need to resolve their differences, in part because of the long-term importance placed on coal in President Carter's energy plan.

Miller briefed the union's 38-member bargaining council after Tuesday morning's shuttle talks, but there was no discussion of a possible contract extension. Instead, one UMW leader said that a long strike will result if the BCOA refuses

Social Security Action Speeds Up In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-stalled legislation to keep the Social Security System afloat and increase the amount recipients can earn without having their benefits cut is facing a flurry of House activity.

Congressmen were scheduled today to name their representatives to a conference committee with the Senate to work out an agreed version.

House members who favor lifting all restrictions on how much retired people may earn without losing some benefits were ready to move to instruct the House conferees to stand firm on this issue.

The meeting is open to the public and reservations can be made by Dec. 5 by contacting either Richard Shaffer at Leon Corp., St. Joseph, or Deputy Brumley at Electro-Voice in Buchanan.

Area Clubs Slate New Tax Law Talk

A meeting on new tax laws for small businesses and personal income taxes will be held Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn by members of the Berrien County Industrial Club and the Southwestern Michigan Chapter of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

Guest speaker will be William E. Smith, of the Benton Harbor accounting firm of Herkner, Smith, Miskell and Merrifield, according to a society spokesman. A social hour is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 and the meeting at 8.

Covert Treasurer Schedules Special Tax Collection Hours

COVERT — Covert Township property tax collection days have been announced by Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, township treasurer.

Mrs. Stuckum said she would be in the township hall in December on Fridays from 1-5 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. In January and February, she will be at the hall to collect taxes on Saturdays only, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Tax payments may also be mailed to Mrs. Stuckum, Route 2, Box 88, Covert, Mich., 49043.

Assistance to senior citizens, veterans, handicapped and disabled people seeking property tax rebates will be available, Mrs. Stuckum said.

Mrs. Stuckum said $2,827,830 is expected to be collected in property taxes in Covert Township for 1977.

She also announced that 1978 dog licenses will be on sale throughout the tax collection period at $5 each. A vaccination certificate is required. After March 1, 1978, dog licenses must be purchased at the Van Buren County Treasurer's office, Paw Paw, for $10 each. Township due dates will be Jan. 14 from 1-5 p.m. and Feb. 10 from 7-9 p.m.

Rare Treasures Gathering Dust

By MARC WILSON
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Until it disappeared, the Gothic castle towering over Chicago's South Side was a wonderland filled with treasures of the Middle Ages, the Renaissance and the Old West.

Inside were pianos used by Franz Liszt and Frederic Chopin, a harp made for Marie Antoinette, paintings by Rubens, Goya and Remington, and armor and swords made for emperors of the Holy Roman Empire.

Until 13 years ago, the castle — with its 2,500 pieces of treasure valued at over $25 million — was a landmark and tourist attraction run by a tax-exempt corporation.

Now the castle and the tourists are gone. Not so the treasures, although some have been sold secretly. The rest are buried away in an 80-year-old, 15-story building in downtown Chicago.

The treasures were collected by a wealthy South Side politician, George F. Harding, from 1913 until his death in 1929. He built the castle next to his home to display the treasures. His will, Harding's attorney told reporters in 1930, made the collection "a gift to the public."

But today, the people who control the treasures say they do not belong to the public.

The castle was torn down in 1965 for an urban renewal project. The government paid the museum $350,000 and the treasures were taken away. Many haven't seen the light of day since.

The directors have turned the museum into a private game preserve and a tax shelter for their real estate ventures," says assistant state Attorney General Don Mulack, who has filed a civil suit charging the directors with committing "fraud upon the public."

"Most of the collection is kept in crates in abominable condition."

Mulack said the directors used the museum's assets to buy real estate that has declined in value, including the drafty, mostly vacant former library building where the collection is now housed.

When the museum began losing about $200,000 a year, the directors secretly began selling museum treasures.

"They needed the money to make up the real estate losses and to pay the directors' salaries of almost $500,000 and the staff salaries of another $150,000," Mulack said.

The museum's board maintains it had the right to sell the treasures and says anonymity is traditionally granted sellers at art auctions.

The museum isn't listed in tourist or Chicago museum guides. No street or sidewalk signs point the way. If the museum is found by chance, tours are given by appointment only.

"If you take a tour, all you will see is 20 percent to 25 percent of the collection. They don't show the rest," Mulack said. "From 1915 to 1971 the museum was completely closed to the public — until we put on the pressure."

"There's an aura of mystery about the museum that the media has undeservedly created," said Albert E. Jenner Jr., the museum's attorney. "We just can't let everybody in there. We don't have the security or the proper display facilities."

Jenner said display of the treasures also is hampered because "Mr. Harding was an amateur collector. Like a lot of amateurs he was deceived here and there. The collection is not as valuable as it could be."

"He went in for armor, and after you've seen one set of armor, you know, you've seen them all."

"The Harding is basically an arms and armor museum, although Mr. Harding bought lots of other things. It's terribly selfish to hang onto these other things when they could go to other museums. So, commencing four or five years ago, we began to sell off what the experts said were items usable by other art collectors and art buyers."

The first item sold was the painting "L'Arabe Au Tombeau" by Eugene Delacroix, sold for $135,000. Then the museum auctioned off 40 antique musical instruments for an undisclosed amount.

Another auction was blocked by Circuit Court Judge George Schaller, who is trying the suit filed by the attorney general's office.

Looking down at Lake Michigan from his massive 44th-floor office, the 68-year-old Jenner puffed on his ever-present Camel and added: "The public just doesn't appreciate what it takes to run a museum... The museum is not owned by the public. It's owned by a not-for-profit corporation that can do what it thinks is best for the museum."

He said the museum board has abandoned hopes of housing the treasures in a downtown skyscraper built on the land the museum owns. "Now we're looking for a small college near Chicago where we could properly house and display the collection."

The attorney general's suit asks that the directors be replaced and be held financially responsible for the museum's losses. The suit is expected to go to trial in the spring.

Mulack says Jenner's participation in the suit "could be a factor — he's a power."

Their Motive
Is Hate

Essential to understanding the activities of the German Baader-Meinhof gang and the Japanese Red Army is the realization that by any common definition of the word these groups are not political. As Walter Laqueur has indicated in his fine study of "Terrorism" (Little, Brown) their ancestry can be traced to the nihilists of Dostoevsky's Idiot or The Devils (or "The Possessed.") Bored, spoiled offspring of the upper class, they have turned to violence as many of their peers turned to drugs or oriental religions.

Their motive is hate, primarily for themselves. But if you hate yourself, how can you hate anybody else? Violence thus becomes a spiritual cathartic, a purgative, a form of behavior that substitutes for an ideology. Of course, it comes wrapped up in slogans, but as far as the protagonists are concerned, the PLO, for example, might as well be the Patagonian League of Outcasts.

I am thus completely convinced five of the imprisoned Baader-Meinhof gang committed suicide in what the Germans consider a maximum security jail. (I have a vision of a German minimum security jail in which visitors bring M-60 machine guns in baby carriages!) Someone observed that a potential suicide is a person who has lost the hope of love. These convicted terrorists, facing long terms, learned of the failure to rescue them, lost their dream of cathartic violence, and with perverse consistency took their last actions against themselves.

A similar history accompanies the Japanese Red Army. When not on the prowl, or in jail, its members have been busy killing each other in their hideouts. Which raises the interesting question: Why should Germany and Japan nurture these singular nihilists? Make no mistake about it, as Laqueur and others have emphasized, these are not terrorists on the model of the IRA Provos. The latter have distinctly political purposes.

An authentic revolutionary, for example, does not commit suicide. This point was brought home to the widow Allende en route from Chile to Mexico after the coup and her husband's death. Initially she announced the president had committed suicide, but wiser counsel persuaded her he had died a martyr's death. By the time she got off the plane at Mexico City, the Marxist canonization was off the drawing board. She announced he had been brutally murdered.

On a far more serious level, the South African claim that Steve Biko, leader of the black consciousness movement and a dedicated idealist, killed himself by banging his skull against the wall of his cell is inherently preposterous. Biko was prepared to face martyrdom, not funk out.

To return to the Germans and Japanese, is it possible that the basic problem is the absence of defined civic virtue with a strong historical foundation? Both nations achieved national identity (in terms of the world community) no more than a century ago. Both engaged in a wild race for modernization with at first great success and then, as in Greek tragedy, hubris (World War II) and nemesis (total defeat).

In a different formulation, we Americans have our differences and our mythology. We have a sense of national identity and a sense of belonging to a historical community with shared values. For a while in the late 18th and early 19th a number of civic prophets cheerfully predicted the demise of "repressive American values" and plugged for dislocation, "the greening of America," and the rejection of civic virtue.

Today they and their acolytes are wandering around someplace between Zen and basket-weaving, while solid, philistine old America plods into the future, still taking as given the value system, the definition of civic virtue, that has sustained us for several centuries.

RARE ANIMALS BRING MORE

Farmer Dumps His Cattle

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP) — Like a lot of farmers, Don Shadow was disgusted with the low prices being paid for cattle. So he switched to more exotic stock — antelope, camel, llama and bison, among others.

"I got tired of the poor prices for cattle," Shadow, 37, said. "That was about seven years ago."

Now he devotes half of his 300-acre Franklin County spread to breeding about 20 species of rare animals and birds. When he has a surplus he sells them to individuals and zoos.

"I won't sell them just to anybody. They have to demonstrate that they have the facilities to take care of them," he said. "I deal mainly with the zoos."

Shadow, who also runs a nursery and still raises a few cattle and sheep, doesn't talk much about prices. But, by way of illustration, he said a young female llama is worth about $1,000 and a young male $300.

With special stock come special problems. "You have all kinds of problems because everything is different," he said. "All your fences have to be high — my corral, for instance, is eight feet high. And the barn needs special stalls so none of them can hurt themselves."

"They're all on large areas where they can graze themselves," he said. "But they need different supplemental feeds. Some of it is specially prepared, some of it I grow myself, and some of it I mix myself."

Among his treasures are black buck antelope from India, schinler horned oryx from Chad in the northern Sahara, blesbok antelope from South Africa, dromedary camels, llamas, American bison, yaks and Texas longhorn cattle.

"I also have some little buck jack deer from south China — they're only about 15 inches high at the shoulder," he said. "And some mouflon sheep from the islands of Sardinia and Corsica. They're the ancestors of most breeds of sheep."

For variety, Shadow keeps ostriches from Africa, camels from Australia and rheas from South America — all this exotic about 45 miles west of Chattanooga.

Most of his stock comes from dealers and zoos. His farm has been approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Many zoos have limited space to exhibit their animals, so they sell most of the offspring to other zoos and individuals," he said.

"I've been interested in animals and their preservation all my life. Captive breeding is eventually going to be the only solution for some endangered species, particularly in some of the under-developed countries which are experiencing rapid population growth."

Shadow said there are now more black buck antelope on United States farms than in India, their country of origin.

"And they were extinct in Pakistan," he said. "In fact, some had to be shipped back to Pakistan recently to begin repopulating them."

"So, many people don't think much about a species of animal until they're extinct — and then they want them back."

Robert Vaughn Buys Rights To New RFK Film

Q: Actor Robert Vaughn has always been a favorite from his "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." days. He was a great on that TV series "Washington: Behind Closed Doors," too. Any movies coming up? — D.L., Sacramento, Calif.

A: Vaughn has bought the film rights to a forthcoming book called "Robert F. Kennedy: Conspiracy and Cover-up" which supports the theory that a hired "hit man" gunned down Kennedy and that convicted assassin Sirhan Sirhan was a decoy. Vaughn and Ken-

WEDDING BELLS: Political insiders are betting that New York Gov. Hugh Carey will marry Anne Ford Uzielli within the next six months. The feeling is that lots of voters aren't exactly delighted with Carey's swinging bachelor life and would prefer a more settled governor. And if you're going to marry, why not an heiress?

Q: What's the story on the Burtons? Is he drinking and is she pregnant? — K.A., Rochester, N.Y.

A: The answer is no to both at the moment. Richard is still smoking, however, anywhere from three to five packs a day. Who Susan got him to quit for nearly a week, but he was so disagreeable that she urged him to start up again, fearing that it was that or the marriage.

A ROYAL CRUISE: Twenty-year-old Peggy Davis of Los Angeles has made a number of trips to Great Britain just to gaze at Prince Charles. Peggy always seemed to show up every time the prince was in an official visit and when curious British police questioned her, Peggy told them her mother paid for the trips. An expensive crush, we'd say.

Q: Does Pat Boone's daughter Debby have a serious boyfriend? We were trying to figure out who she's singing about in her hit "You Light Up My Life." — M.M., Selma, Ala.

A: Debby Boone has such a strait-laced and religious demeanor it's not a boyfriend she's singing to. According to Debby, the song is about her relationship to God.

Q: Who's the richest performer in Hollywood? — G.S., Knoxville, Tenn.

A: According to those in the know, the answer is Bob Hope. As rich as Bing Crosby was, his fortune is tarnished by Bing's son Gary, no less) a drop in the bucket compared with that of Hope. But also high on the list is Fred MacMurray, who's piled up a fortune in real estate. Even though he's not in the most robust health, MacMurray continues to work. He's in the upcoming movie, "Swarm" — proving, perhaps, that he's been bitten by more than one showbiz bug.

Pupils Smoke In Schoolroom

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Some New Hampshire high school pupils are being allowed to smoke in class this week — to show them the harm smoking inflicts on their bodies.

The New Hampshire Lung Association, using federal funds, has been supplying high schools throughout New Hampshire this fall with equipment to monitor heart rate, skin temperature, carbon monoxide in the blood stream and nervousness. On Monday, the tests began at West High School in Manchester.

He's Only Human ... And That's Her Problem!

YORK, England (AP) — It's nothing personal, but Janette Tate says she can't stand people, even her husband Steve. Janette, 21, is allergic to human beings. She said she is allergic to cats, dogs, horses, trees, flowers and feathers as well, but people really bother her. Crows make her wheezy and itchy, and her husband's embrace makes her break out in red blotches.

"It's a difficult situation," said Steve, 23. "I try to be understanding, but I'm only human. As Janette says, that's the problem. We've been married for over two years, but even now kissing can be a problem for us. If it's too passionate the area round my mouth goes bright red — it's embarrassing to know I can't kiss my husband without my friends knowing about it."

"Obviously Steve likes to get close. He's been very understanding, but I can't expect him to keep three feet away from me all the time," Mrs. Tate works as a dressmaker in a large room where she can keep her distance from her colleagues, but shopping or visiting a busy bar for an evening drink makes her miserable.

"It's ruining my social life," she said. Mrs. Tate noticed her allergies 10 years ago, but thought she would grow out of them. Dr. William Davidson, an allergy specialist in this northern English city, said the case is unusual but not unique.

"Some people are physically affected by the presence of other people," he said. "The severity varies from case to case, but I believe we'll be able to help Mrs. Tate with injections and tablets."

Youth Pendulum Swinging To Right

NORTHBROOK, Ill. — (Special) — It is said that the mood of the country moves in cycles, from conservative to liberal and back again. If the nation's outstanding teens are any kind of barometer, there is a lot of truth in that statement.

For the first time in the eight year history of the "Who's Who Among American High School Students" surveys, the country's top teens are acting more like hawks than doves.

Results from the eighth annual survey indicate that if these young people could choose where their tax dollars were spent, 54 percent would allocate funds to national defense. More than three-quarters would like the defense budget increased or maintained at the current level, a dramatic contrast to 1973, when only 8 percent of the teens thought money for defense should be upped.

These kids can't be labeled isolationists either. If Communist support were evident in a third world conflict, almost half of the students would advocate giving military aid to the pro-West, non-Communist forces. Another 45 per cent would send "military advisors."

The nationwide poll is conducted among almost 24,000 of the nation's leading high school juniors and seniors. They are part of 317,000 high achievers featured in the 1976-77 edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," published by Educational Communications, Inc., Northbrook, Ill.

The young people are recommended for listing by their high school principals or guidance counselors and national youth organizations. Criteria are leadership and achievement in academics, school activities, community service or athletics and recognition by the publishing company for high performance in national scholarship or award contests.

Although the majority of teens give President Carter good marks for his domestic program proposals, practically the only area they agree with him in foreign policy is human rights. Three out of four think every human being has a right to dignity.

In other foreign matters, these kids tend toward the right.

Forty-four per cent are against re-establishing ties with Viet Nam; 46 percent oppose reduction of forces in Korea, and 57 percent either do not advocate or do not know how they feel about establishment of a Palestinian homeland.

Here on the home front, the tion would get support from 81 percent and 49 percent would grant funds to environmental preservation.

The great government shape-up is a priority for these kids, too. More than two-thirds opt for government reorganization, 65 percent would like to see the willing to give up. For example, 88 percent would give up driving a large car in favor of a small compact, but only a little more than half would use public transportation instead of driving.

A large majority (83 percent) would reduce the use of convenience appliances, yet only 19 percent would give up electrical gadgetry altogether. Water conservation is of interest solely to the Westerners (73 percent) who have experienced shortages. More than half their peers in other parts of the country would not be willing to cut down water usage.

Like most people, violence is disturbing to the teens. More than half believe there is too much violence on television and 62 percent say violence is reflective of the society we live in. Fifty-six percent think the reporting of violent and terrorist crimes in the media leads to more violence. Their solution? Exactly two-thirds favor reinstating the death penalty in this country.

This learning motivated group has some very definite opinions about the direction of U.S. education. Back-to-basics is the theme song of 86 percent and three out of four feel that all high school students should be required to pass a qualification test with emphasis on the three R's before being allowed to graduate.

In terms of their own educational experience, the majority (63 percent) have found their high school merely routine. Three out of four, however, say their high school curriculum has adequately prepared them for college or a job.

Tradition threads its way through the moral and religious lives of these students. Eight out of ten surveyed prefer a traditional marriage. Seventy percent have never had sexual intercourse. Sixty percent of the girls and 43 percent of the boys say they'll remain a virgin until marriage. Working in the home full time and raising children can be a totally fulfilling role for a woman according to 64 percent of the teens.

Drinking and drugs don't hold much appeal for these kids either. Nearly half have never had a drink; 93 percent don't smoke, and nine out of ten have not used drugs.

Nation's Top Teens Acting More Like Hawks Than Doves

teens are concerned about education, energy conservation, environmental preservation and the big bureaucracy. Almost all of the students (95 percent) would allocate their tax dollars for education, energy conservational budget balanced, and 59 percent say the welfare system ought to be overhauled.

While energy is of great concern, when it comes down to the nitty gritty these teens are not too sure how much they are

Court Puts Limit On Insurance Payoff

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Benefits collected under more than one uninsured motorist insurance plan cannot exceed the maximum of any one of the policies, the Michigan Court of Appeals said today.

The court ruled 3-1 in favor of a Detroit insurance firm in a 1974 case involving uninsured motorists insurance. The insurance was required in Michigan before no-fault became state law in 1975. It's no longer required but is used by some auto owners as extra protection.

Paula Sue Kozak of Oakland County was injured in a motorcycle accident in Mississippi in 1974. She filed for the maximum benefits under three policies she had paid for on three automobiles owned by her father. When the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange refused, Ms. Kozak filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court.

The lower court sided with the insurance company, and the appeals court upheld that ruling.

Each of the three policies provided for uninsured motorist coverage up to $20,000. Each policy also contained a clause stating that the maximum benefits to be available under all three policies could not exceed the maximum of any one policy.

When the insurance company paid her $20,000, Ms. Kozak filed suit claiming the benefits should have been stacked, entitling her to $60,000.

"When an insurer issues multiple insurance policies, each providing uninsured motorist coverage and containing an 'other insurance' clause, the insured party may not pyramid his damages, but can recover only the maximum amount to which he is limited by the 'other insurance' clause," the appellate court said.

"The clause is simple and clear, the court said, and judges should not try to force an insurance company into a liability which it has not assumed in writing."

Campbell, Williams Head All-Americans

AP ALL-AMERICA DEFENSE 1977

Two Irish, U-M's Donahue Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Four repeaters have been named to The Associated Press All-America college football team for 1977, along with running back Earl Campbell, who led Texas to the No. 1 regular-season ranking, and quarterback Doug Williams from predominantly black Grambling State University.

Williams, the all-time leader in passing yardage and touchdowns, was the first Grambling player to make the AP's nationally recognized major All-America team since this is the small Louisiana school's first season in the NCAA's Division I.

The 6-foot-4, 218-pound senior from Baton Rouge, La., was joined on the All-American squad by repeaters Terry Miller, Oklahoma State running back; Ross Brownner, Notre Dame defensive end; Jerry Robinson, UCLA linebacker, and Dennis Thurman, Southern California defensive back.

With one game remaining, against Temple University in Tokyo Dec. 11, Williams has completed 160 of 315 passes for 2,974 yards and 34 touchdowns in 10 games.

The yardage and scoring passes are tops in the nation and give Williams a shot at the single-season NCAA marks of 3,484 passing yards by Tulsa's Bill Anderson in 1966 and 39 TD passes by Dennis Shaw of San Diego State in 1969.

Joining Williams in the backfield were Campbell, who topped the nation's rushers with 1,744 yards as the Longhorns rolled to an 11-0 regular season record, and Miller, who finished third, with 1,680 yards and set several Big Eight Conference rushing records even though he was the only offensive starter returning from last season's Tangerine Bowl team.

The receivers are 249-pound tight end Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame, who has caught 49 passes in 10 games; wide receiver Ozzie Newsome, who is equally at home of split end or tight end in Alabama's Wishbone offense, and Arizona State wide receiver John Jefferson, the Western Athletic Conference's all-time reception yardage leader.

Making up the offensive interior line are tackles Chris Ward of Ohio State and Dennis Baker of Wyoming, guards Mark Donahue of Michigan and Louis Harris of Arkansas, and Pitt center Tom Brazza.

The defensive ends are Brownner, the 1976 Outland Trophy winner as the nation's top lineman, and Kentucky's 6-foot-7 Art Still. The tackles are Brad Shearer of Texas and Dee Hardison of North Carolina, with Penn State nose guard Randy Stiller.

Along with Robinson at linebacker are George Cumby of Oklahoma, The AP's Defensive Player of the Year in the Big Eight, and Mike Woods of Cincinnati, a junior, and Cammy, a sophomore, are the only non-seniors on the team.

The secondary consists of Thurman, Zac Henderson of Oklahoma and Bob Jury, Pitt's career interception leader.

Two Wolverines and one player from Western Michigan University were named to the second team.

They are tackle Mike Kenn and back Dwight Hickman from the U-M and Western Michigan running back Jerome Persell.

Among those named to the third team were center Walt Downing of Michigan, Michigan State tackle Larry Bethea and back Ron Johnson of Eastern Michigan.

Poor Health Forced Vitale Resignation

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Vitale, whose enthusiasm and drive helped propel the University of Detroit to national basketball prominence, vows that the U-D's sports future is bright even though poor health forced him to resign as coach.

Vitale sobbed Tuesday as he announced his resignation as coach because of bleeding ulcers. The remains athletic director and assistant coach Dave Gaines will take over as coach when the Titans open the season Thursday against Toledo.

In his four years as Titan mentor, Vitale compiled a 78-30 record. The U-D made it to the National Collegiate Athletic Association Midwest playoffs last year, where it lost in Michigan. The team is No. 19 in the current Associated Press rankings of the nation's top 20 college basketball teams.

Vitale, 37, told a news conference he suffered his third attack of internal bleeding of the stomach last week.

"I feel very bad that I've let down so many people," he said. "I had the toughest week of my life this morning with my players. ... I always wanted to be a pro coach, but I guess that's out the window. Now is the time for me to come in grips with life and step aside."

But the usually bubbly Vitale, whose prominence brought the U-D many dollars in revenue, brightened when he talked about the school's sports future that he hopes will include a hockey program.

"I've been treated like a god at this university — it's just incredible," he said. "I just feel and hope and pray that they (supporters) stay on our backside."

Gaines, 36, played basketball with the Harlem Globetrotters and the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association. The Detroit native, who attended Lemay College in Memphis, Tenn., said he wants to "try to be my own man" and leave his own mark on the U-D basketball program.

Vitale said he first suffered from a bleeding stomach in the 1974-75 season. He was hospitalized for one day. In the summer of 1976, he had a second attack and was hospitalized for two weeks.

A third attack hit him late last week and doctors told him a fourth attack would be much more severe.

"They told me the fourth attack might mean not just six pints of blood as the second attack did, but might cause removal of my stomach," he said. "I am not going to risk my family life for a career in basketball."

The players said they accepted the coaching change but were concerned about Vitale.

"The team's kind of down about it," admitted senior forward John Long. "The guy did a lot for us. It's our turn to do some things for him."

Serge Duerod, a junior guard, admitted the team was shocked by Vitale's resignation but said, "We've just got to get together and play as a unit and dedicate this season to coach. Most of the players took it hard but we just have to come together and win for him."

Herrmann Captures Two Titles

CHICAGO (AP) — Freshman Mark Herrmann of Purdue captured the individual passing and total offense titles, according to the final Big Ten football statistics.

Herrmann edged Michigan's Rick Leach for the passing title on a semi-weighted grading system and was well ahead of Leach in total offense. Herrmann averaged 167.1 yards a game in total offense to 146.5 for Leach.

Run Springs of Ohio State was the individual rushing leader with an average of 108.7 yards per game. Ric Enls of Indiana was second with 99.5.

James Coleman of Illinois was No. 1 among all-purpose runners, a category which includes rushing, receiving, punt returns and kickoff returns. Coleman averaged 123.9 yards a game to 120.7 for Springs.

Reggie Arnold of Purdue and Keith Calvin of Indiana tied for pass receptions with 37 each, but Arnold averaged 18.6 yards per catch and had six touchdowns in 14.0 yards for Calvin and one touchdown.

Joel Payton of Ohio State was the leading scorer with 62 points and Hans Nielsen of Michigan State was No. 1 in kick scoring with 59 points.

Bears Get 83-68 Victory Over Mustangs

Winning Decision By 'Board'

By JOHN VANDEN HEED

Sports Editor

THREE OAKS — St. Joseph's basketball victory over River Valley here Tuesday night was definitely a board decision.

Coach Clare Adkin's Bears posted an 83-68 victory over the Mustangs with an overwhelming 51 to 19 rebounding edge.

The main men on St. Joe's "board of directors" were 5-11 guard Steve Ziebart with 13, 6-7 center Jeff Beal with 12 and 6-1 forward Carl Czirr with 9.

"We've really spent a lot of time in practice on rebounding and it paid off," declared Adkin. "We were trying to get position and block out. Of course, we should have outrebounded them. We had the height advantage."

St. Joseph had about a two-inch per man height advantage, but River Valley Coach Jerry Schaffer thought there was more to the Bears' lopsided board edge than just being taller. "It wasn't only the height," he explained. "They've also got some good athletes and a lot of strength."

Adkin called Ziebart's rebounding effort "great" while pointing out that the senior spent quite a bit of time on the bench. He also was "real pleased" with the offensive board work of Czirr.

St. Joe had five players score in double figures while upping its record to 2-0 and getting its eighth straight triumph over River Valley. The 83 points is the most scored against the Mustangs since New Prairie beat them 83-78 in 1969. The strings covers 164 games.

Beal netted 23 points. Ziebart 16, Czirr 14 and Paul Knuth 13. River Valley got 16 each from Steve Nash and Gary Schaffer and 14 from Dave Ziebell in its season opener.

Another key to St. Joe's victory was deadly field goal and free shooting. It balanced off a four game which produced a damaging 31 turnovers.

The Bears meshed 34 of 59 field goals (58 percent) and 15 of 18 free throws (83 percent).

"We got inside on them...that's what we wanted to do," continued Adkin. "It certainly was an unselfish effort."

St. Joe had 16 assists, including four apiece by Beal and Czirr and three by Ziebart.

"They got a lot of easy ones," noted Schaffer. "We didn't cover up."

River Valley hit on 29 of 71 field goals (41 percent) and 10 of 15 free throws (67 percent). The Mustangs had only 11 turnovers. Assist leaders were White and Dave Ziebell with seven and five, respectively.

River Valley scored the first basket of the game, but Beal followed with a three-point play and St. Joe never trailed after that. The Bears posted quarter leads of 21-19, 45-36 and 64-52. The biggest margin was 16 points (twice) in the third stanza.

The high score was also partly a result of River Valley playing a running game where it wasn't hesitant to put up a shot. "We had hoped to neutralize their height advantage by running them," stated Schaffer. "We are so small. We have got to use our speed and quickness."

In the junior varsity preliminary, St. Joe liked its record to 2-0 with a 69-68 triumph which included 17 points by Dave Ruff and 15 each by Bob Bucholtz and Brad Wheeler. River Valley got 19 from Pete Albritton and 11 from Jeff Peterok.

Galien Defeats Lutheran For Third Win In Row

GALIEN — Galien won its third straight victory of the season by trouncing Michigan Lutheran 64-30 here Tuesday night.

It was a good game for both teams to get a chance to play everybody on the bench, said Coach Mike Heckathorn.

John Gunn and Jerry Woodrick led the Gaels' scoring with 11 points each and Doug Barnett added 10. John Briny netted 14 for the winless Titans.

"Both teams spent the first four minutes feeling each other out," Heckathorn said. After four minutes of play the score was 6-6. But Galien outscored the Titans 8-2 in the rest of the quarter and was never headed after that.

Rebounding and shooting were the key factors. Galien shot 57 percent (24 of 42 from the field) and grabbed 48 rebounds. Lutheran pulled down only 24 rebounds and hit 11 of 40 from the field for 28 percent. Galien sunk 16 of 23 free throws while Lutheran's eight of 17.

Turnovers were close. Galien had 20 to Lutheran's 31.

The win was Galien's fifth straight in regular season play.

The Gaels finished last season with two wins. They are 1-4 in Red Arrow play this season. Michigan Lutheran is 0-2 overall.

In the JV preliminary Galien won 69-31. Matti Kozel netted 18 for the Gaels.

MONTREAL (AP) — Running back Jimmy Edwards of the Hamilton Tiger Cats, who averaged almost 100 rushing yards per game in the 1977 season, has been named the outstanding player in the Canadian Football League.

Fennville's Girls Bump Bangor In 'C' District

BLOOMINGDALE — Fennville streaked to its fifth straight victory in a 49-37 triumph over Bangor in the Class C girls basketball district here Tuesday night.

Senior Susan Barnes, a 6-0 senior forward, scored 16 points and pulled down 14 rebounds as Fennville lured its record to 13-4.

"She had a real nice total game," declared Blackhawk Coach Jeff Warner. "She did a good job on the boards and played good defense, too."

Warner also said his little

Merchead, played a "nice game." She hit a couple of long shots while finishing with eight points. Teammate Nancy Crane had seven. Helping out in the rebounding department was Ann Nagy with 10.

Fennville led 18-10 after the first quarter, with Barnes leading the way with eight points. The Blackhaws were also on top 24-19 at halftime and 48-21 after three quarters.

"We used a full court press the first part of the game and a half court press later on," noted Warner.

The top scorer for Bangor was Trudy Martensson with 22.

In Tuesday's other game here, Hopkins breezed past Hamilton 47-22 while getting 18 points from Sally Guy and 11 from Tracy Hazen.

Hopkins now plays Fennville in another doubleheader here tonight. Hartford plays Waterville in the other game. The winners will play Friday in the championship clash.

Hopkins defeated Fennville twice during the regular season in Allegan-Ottawa Conference clashes by scores of 47-45 and 48-31.

"We are looking forward to this one," concluded Warner.

Warner, Rea Lead Eddies To Victory

MARCELLUS — Edwardsburg led 18 points from Ditta Warner and 17 from Kathy Rea while downing Decatur 54-40 in Class C girls district basketball action here Tuesday night.

Rea, a 6-2 senior center, also pulled down 21 rebounds while powering the Eddies into the semifinals Thursday night against 9-19 Constantine.

Edwardsburg, now 9-9, defeated Decatur by posting a solid rebounding edge. "We were a bit taller than they were, and rebounding was definitely a factor," declared Eddie Coach Pat Reznick.

Sharon Bohner added 11 points to the Edwardsburg cause.

Decatur closed out its season while getting 13 points from Dalia Lapekas and 10 from Starbeck.

Edwardsburg opened the game by jumping out to a 19-8 lead, but Decatur came back to lead 24-20 at halftime. "We had a difficult time moving the ball against their press," stated Reznick. "We had a lot of turnovers."

The Eddies moved back on top 35-32 after three quarters and put the Raiders away with a 19 to 8 scoring edge in the fourth stanza. "We started moving the ball better and made some better passes," noted Reznick.

Dream Comes True For New Canadien

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dream came true for Pierre Larouche when he skated onto the ice at the Forum in Montreal Tuesday night.

"It was always a big dream for me to play in Montreal," the 22-year-old center said. "I was born in Taschereau, Que., and the biggest dream of my life was to play in Montreal for the Canadiens. Now I'm here."

Larouche celebrated his arrival with three assists, helping the Canadiens to a 3-1 National Hockey League victory over his former teammates, the Pittsburgh Penguins.

"I was surprised when I found out that Pittsburgh had traded me," said Larouche, who had 242 points in three seasons with the Penguins, including a 53-goal campaign two years ago. "I was shocked. I really never expected to be traded."

Larouche assisted on a goal by Yvon Lambert, one of four Montreal tallies in the first period, then assisted on both of Rejean Houle's goals in the third period.

In other NHL games, the Minnesota North Stars trimmed the Atlanta Flames 4-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs edged the Cleveland Barons 3-2, the Los Angeles Kings beat the Washington Capitals 4-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers defeated the Vancouver Canucks 3-0.

The Canadiens sent Peter Mahovlich and Peter Lee to Pittsburgh for Larouche and reaped immediate dividends.

Andre Beaudet, who replaced Ted Harris as coach of Minnesota on Thursday, posted his first victory in the NHL when Alex Pirus beat Atlanta goalie Phil Myre with 82 minutes remaining. Steve Jensen unseamed his way into the Atlanta zone and Roland Eriksson passed the puck across the slot to set up Pirus' score.

Toronto's Lanny McDonald got the game-winning goal, an unassisted tally at 6:54 of the third period. He intercepted an attempted clearing pass and blasted a hard shot past Barons goalie Gary Edwards for his eighth goal of the season.

Decatur Spoils Bangor Opener

BANGOR — Decatur spoiled Bangor's home boys basketball opener Tuesday night by jumping out to a big lead and never looking back while dumping the Vikings 65-45.

Steve Overley scored 17, Dave Groendyk 11 and Tim Corven 10 for Decatur. Doug Watkins netted 10 points for Bangor.

Decatur raced out to a 7-2 lead early in the first quarter and held an 18 point edge at the end of the half. And according to Viking coach Norm Johnson, Bangor was too far behind to come back by the time they had built any momentum in the second half.

From the field, Decatur hit 27 of 57 for 47 percent in Bangor's 21 of 55 for 38 percent. And from the four lines, Decatur sunk 11 of 21 to Bangor's 3 of 13. Decatur also held an edge in rebounding. They grabbed 41 rebounds, compared to 26 for Bangor. But Bangor held the edge in turnovers committing 17 mistakes to Decatur's 10.

In the junior varsity preliminary Bangor edged Decatur 52-49. Decatur won the freshman game 46-32.

3rd Quarter Hawk Spree Tips Tigers

GOBLES — Fennville came alive in the second half to beat Gobles 71-51 in the boys basketball opener for both teams here Tuesday night.

Gobles held a 30-27 halftime lead, but the Blackhawk unseamed their offense in the second half and spurted away with the win.

Doug Scudder led Fennville with 15 points and Urban Sanceda and Gary Morse netted 10 each. Dale Sunlin's 13 and Ralph Pawley's 12 led the Tigers.

Fennville hit 15 of 26 from the free throw line to 11 of 17 for Gobles. And from the field Fennville sunk 39 percent (28 of 71) to Gobles' 20 of 54 for 37 percent.

Fennville blew Gobles out in the third quarter, according to Gobles Coach Tim Barrone. Fennville sunk 11 of 22 field goals and forced 13 of Gobles' 49 turnovers in that quarter.

Fennville won the junior varsity game 48-45.

Schoolcraft Rips Lawton

LAWTON — Bruce Heath tossed in 11 points and pulled down 16 rebounds Tuesday night to help Schoolcraft to a 51-35 non-league basketball win over Lawton.

Lawton, now 0-1, led 7-5 at the end of the first quarter. But the visitors moved out to a 19-17 halftime lead and broke the game open in the third quarter. Schoolcraft outscored the Blue Devils 16-6 in the third period for a commanding 35-23 lead.

"They pressed in the third quarter and we had trouble breaking the press," Lawton coach Bill Shaw said. "That and rebounding were the difference."

Schoolcraft finished with a 46-32 board.

Lawton turned the ball over 35 times to just 19 for Schoolcraft and the Blue Devils hit just 13 of 49 from the floor (27 per cent).

Craig Rupp tossed in 12 points and Jack Bastian added 10 for Lawton.

Pistons, Bulls Register Victories Philadelphia Whips By Spurs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Who says you can't run-and-gun with the San Antonio Spurs?

"We're not afraid to run with anybody," declared Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham, whose 76ers opened up all the burners in the final 15 minutes and pulled away the Spurs for a 129-117 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night.

The Spurs led 87-84 with three minutes remaining in the third quarter before Philadelphia broke loose on a 15-1 tear, Julius Erving getting five points and Doug Collins and Darryl Dawkins four each.

George McGinnis led Philadelphia with 31 points, Erving had 28 and Collins 27.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Detroit Pistons edged the Milwaukee Bucks 100-98, the Atlanta Hawks beat the Boston Celtics 108-101, the Chicago Bulls defeated the New Orleans Jazz 95-87, the Cleveland Cavaliers whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 118-101, the Houston Rockets stopped the New York Knicks 120-103, the Denver Nuggets beat the Seattle SuperSonics 113-90, the Golden State Warriors defeated the New Jersey Nets 110-101 and the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Phoenix Suns 108-95.

Detroit snapped a six-game losing streak by scoring the last five points of the game, two by Chris Ford and then a three-point play by veteran center Bob Lanier, who had missed six of the last nine games because of fluid on the knee.

Recently acquired Tom McMillen scored 13 of his 17 points in the fourth quarter for Atlanta, which erased a 13-point halftime deficit and outscored Boston 114-91 in the first seven minutes of the final period to go ahead to stay.

Artis Gilmore scored 21 points and grabbed 17 rebounds for Chicago, which halted New Orleans' five-game winning streak. The Jazz played without high-scoring Pete Maravich, sidelined by an injured toe.

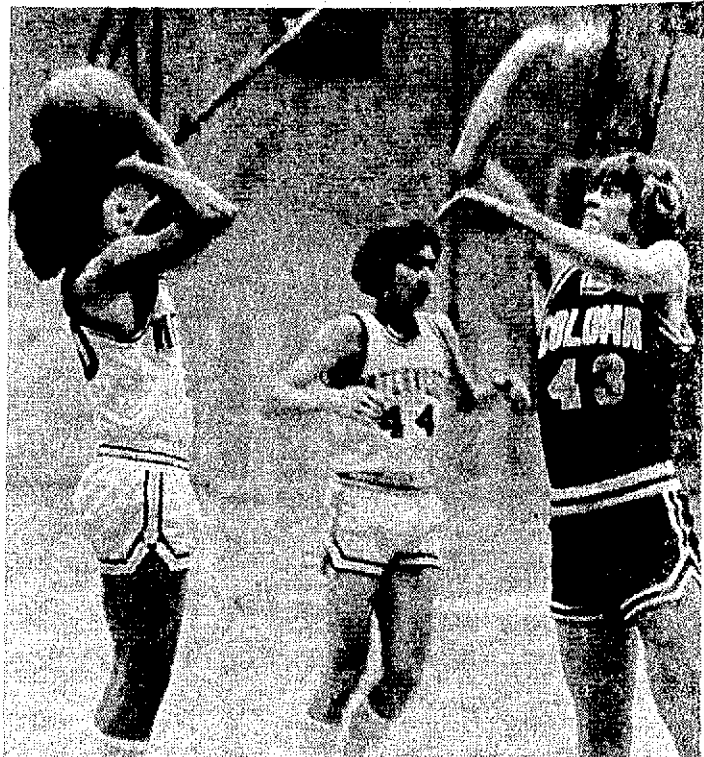

Foots Walker scored 12 of his 20 points in the third quarter as the Cavs outscored the Lakers 35-20 to break their game open. Calvin Murphy scored 23 points and rookie Robert Reid, making his first pro start, added 22 as Houston snapped a six-game losing streak and avenged an 18-point loss to New York the previous night.

Denver outscored Seattle 22-2 during a six-minute stretch of the second half to pull away from the Sonics, who are now 5-17 on the season. The Nets jumped out to an 18-4 lead, but Golden State caught up early in the second period and broke the game open by outscoring New Jersey 39-16 in the third quarter. Robert Parish had 27 points, including six straight field goals in the fourth quarter, as Golden State broke a four-game losing streak and dropped New Jersey's record to 3-17.

The Blazers scored 10 consecutive points in the second quarter to take a 40-32 lead and were never headed as they raised their record to 18-3, best in the NBA. Bill Walton led Portland with 23 points.

CMU, Kent State Top MAC Picks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Central Michigan and Kent State, with five first team selections each, lead the 1977 Mid-American Conference all-star football selections made by the league's coaches.

Ball State and Eastern Michigan each had four while champion Miami placed three players and Northern Illinois, Ohio University, Toledo and Western Michigan landed one selection each.

Eleven players landed first team honors for the second year in a row with Kent State and Ball State owning three apiece.

The Kent State repeaters were wide receiver Kim Featsent, linebacker Jack Lazar and placekicker Paul Marchese. Earning first team spots again from Ball State were wide receiver Rick Morrison, defensive back Maurice Harvey and punter Mark O'Connell.

Other repeaters were middle guard Jack Glowit and defensive end Greg Sullivan of Miami, Western Michigan running back Jerome Persell, tight end Wayne Schwalbach of Central Michigan and defensive back Ron Johnson of Eastern Michigan.

Quarterback choice of the coaches was Ohio senior Andy Vetter, who completed 116 of 202 passes for 1,543 yards, fourth best in the MAC. His 157.5 total offensive yard average was fifth in the league. Joining Vetter in the backfield are the MAC's top three rushers, led by Persell. The others were No. 2 Mose Rison of Central Michigan and No. 3 Bobby Windom of Eastern Michigan.

Interior offensive linemen were all first-time choices. They are Tim Sapota and Jeff Visner of Central Michigan, Rollie Hanson of Eastern Michigan, Tom Jesko of Kent State and Jack Stretcher of Miami.

Morton Finds Destiny As Star Denver Quarterback

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Craig Morton is the quarterback who was ordained for superstardom but had to wait until he was 34 years old to catch the tail of the comet.

What happened? Who went wrong during those 9½ seasons with the Dallas Cowboys when he was incessantly moving in and out of Coach Tom Landry's doghouse? Who failed to recognize his potential in the 2½ struggling years with the New York Giants?

Is it true, as former quarterback John Brodie commented during the Denver Broncos' 27-13 victory over the Baltimore Colts Sunday, that Morton was just an average quarterback until he moved this year into the mile-high atmosphere and loving graces of the Denver populace?

"Not at all," insists Andy Robustelli, the Giants' Hall of Famer who returned to try to lead his old team out of the National Football League doldrums as director of operations. "Morton always has been a top-grade quarterback."

"I can't speak for Dallas. He joined the Cowboys when they were in a development stage. We found him to be a player who could be great if he had the tools to work with."

"On the Giants, we didn't have those tools. We were a young, building team. We could not surround Craig with the tools people he needs to function properly."

"At Denver, he has that support. Our philosophy was that we should not try to go with an old quarterback and a young team. We felt we should install quarterbacks who could grow as we grow."

Traded by the Cowboys to the Giants in 1974, after signing with Houston of the now defunct World Football League, the veteran signal-caller subsequently was dealt to the Broncos in a straight player trade for a younger quarterback, Steve Ramsey.

Morton found his destiny at Denver.

Under his field generalship, the Broncos have become the darlings of the NFL, winner of 10 of their 11 games for the best record in the league, conqueror of such giants as defending champion Oakland, two-time Super Bowl winner Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Baltimore.

The Giants, meanwhile, have floundered, winning four and losing seven games while alternating between Jerry Galsteyn, a 23-year-old rookie, and Joe Pisarcik, a refugee from the Canadian League.

"We are not embarrassed," said Robustelli. "We felt we had to go with younger men."

Morton, the retread, became the idol of the Rockies. He was elected offensive captain by a unanimous vote of his teammates. He was an instant success.

In the first 11 games, he has completed 109 of 214 passes for 1,569 yards and 11 touchdowns. He has guided field operations almost flawlessly. Surprisingly, he also has rushed for 102 yards and four touchdowns.

"It's Craig's mobility that has astounded me," acknowledged Robustelli. "I always felt he was a sound field general and had a strong and accurate arm. But in the past he was a pocket quarterback with little or no mobility."

"His success has been remarkable. Maybe too much was expected of him at first when he came out of the University of California as a shining knight — All-American, No. 1 draft choice, sure-fire pro."

Morton disdained a promising baseball career to play pro football. He was embittered when he was relegated to the bench. He had arm trouble. But his pride ached more. He sought help from a hypnotist. He resented having Landry send in signals.

"The quarterback," he argued, "should be a coach on the field." He made an exhaustive study of defenses, said he memorized 50 or 60 of them which he could pick out at a single glance. But contentment evaded him.

That is, until he moved to Denver, where his fortunes did an abrupt about-face. Recently he married his Dallas sweetheart. He is moving this week into a new home. He says: "I have never been happier. I feel like I am starting life all over again."

Washington Fans Having Flight Problems

SEATTLE (AP) — Washington football fans clutching a Rose Bowl ticket are learning a disturbing truth about the journey from Seattle to Los Angeles — you can't get there from here.

All four airlines with flights between the two cities report they are sold out of seats to the Southern California area for the holiday period. But each — United, Continental, Hughes Air West and Western — is trying to arrange charter flights, spokesmen say.

"It's amazing," a United representative said. "The best we can do now is to ask passengers to wait and hope there are cancellations, or arrangements can be made for extra flights."

Hughes Air West spokesman said its flights were booked up even before Washington won the Rose Bowl bid to play the Michigan Wolverines Jan. 2 in Pasadena.

"We are looking at requests from travel agencies regarding charter possibilities, but even this is questionable. At this time of year, we just don't have equipment and crews available."

Western, with nine flights to Los Angeles daily and 11 returning, is "tight" for the Dec. 30-Jan. 2 period, and is booked for all flights Jan. 1-2.

"Before noon yesterday we had 2,000 ticket requests," said David Jimenez, Western's public relations director. "Our suggestion is to try for reservations before Dec. 30 and after Jan. 2."

At least one Seattle travel agency has bought 980 seats on Aeromexico departing Seattle Dec. 27 through Dec. 30 and returning Jan. 3 through Jan. 5. The package includes fare, game ticket, hotel accommodations and other items.

Getting tickets for the game, Washington's first appearance in the Rose Bowl since 1963, is difficult but not impossible. The university Tuesday gave first priority in sale of its tickets to season-ticket holders. They can buy as many tickets as the number of season tickets they held.

The same policy applies to students, the university said.

Faculty and staff members were advised to have their orders in by next Monday. Non-season ticket holders were told to get orders in immediately, because tickets left after priority sales will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

SPORTS CAPSULES

Lakers Win

Lake Michigan Catholic opened its freshmen basketball season with a 57-51 victory over Coloma Monday night at home. Joe McCrone and Bill Bilisko each scored 18 for the winners while Jonning had 17 for the Comets.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK — Penn State has been awarded the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of major college Eastern football supremacy.

The Nittany Lions finished the season 10-1 including a 15-13 victory over arch-rival Pittsburgh last Saturday. Penn State was the unanimous choice of the seven-man committee.

Lehigh won the Lambert Cup for Division II and Westminster captured the Lambert Bowl for Division III.

RALEIGH, N.C. — Charley Pell, who coached the Clemson Tigers to a Gator Bowl date and their best record since 1950, was selected as the 1977 Football Coach of the Year in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

HOCKEY

HARTFORD — The World Hockey Association assessed $10,700 in fines and handed out suspensions to three players as a result of a bench-clearing brawl during Sunday night's game between the Birmingham Bulls and Winnipeg Jets.

Birmingham players were fined $7,500 and received a total of five games in suspensions, while Winnipeg members were fined $3,500.

SKUNG

FRANS MONTANA, Switzerland — France's Fabienne Serrat captured both runs in a World Series special slalom. Liechtenstein's Hanni Wenzel, trailing by an aggregate 36 seconds, was second, followed by defending World Cup champion Lise-Marie Morend.

TENNIS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Argentine Guillermo Vilas defeated Chile's Jaime Filoll 62, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4 and clinched the final of the $20,000 Argentine Tennis Open championship.

It was Vilas' fifth consecutive victory in the Argentine Open.

South Korean Plan Told For White House Spying

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea's intelligence chiefs approved a plan to plant collaborators in the White House, Congress and top federal agencies last year, according to copies of the plan released by a House subcommittee.

But a former Korean Central Intelligence Agency station chief in New York City, testifying before the House international relations subcommittee, said he doubts much of it was carried out.

The former KCIA station chief, Sohn Ho Young, who defected two months ago, told the subcommittee at a public hearing Tuesday that by the time the plan for 1976 operations was formulated, KCIA agents already had been told to lay low because of breaking disclosures of Korean influence operations.

The plan called for "implantation of an intelligence network in the White House" and buying collaborators in congressional leaders' offices and in the State Department, Pentagon and U.S. intelligence agencies.

It also envisioned "manipulation" of major American news organizations and operations to convert or neutralize university and religious opponents of Korean President Park Chung Hee.

Young said the plan was drafted by the KCIA station chief in Washington. It was signed by the KCIA director in Seoul on Dec. 15, 1975.

It called for paying $100 a month each to three unnamed White House aides for the spy network, three State Department officials, three Pentagon officials and five U.S. intelligence officials.

Three "paid collaborators" in the House speaker's office and other congressional leaders' offices were to get $500 a month each.

The plan envisioned winning over reporters with the American Broadcasting Co., The New York Times, the Washington Post and the Christian Science Monitor, primarily with expense-paid trips to Korea.

Executives of the news organizations said they knew of no manipulation of their reporters. A New York Times spokesman added: "It appears it is just a statement of intent of what they would like to do."

The plan called for getting reporters to ask planted questions at White House news conferences and hiring two unnamed American reporters. The two reporters, their organizations and the proposed pay was not spelled out.

Two witnesses named in the plan as targets told the subcommittee of what might have been KCIA attempts to carry out the plan, but two others said they were not approached in 1976.

Stefan Leder, an executive of the nonprofit Defense Information Center in Washington, said he was offered but turned down a trip to Korea by a man who has been identified as a KCIA agent after he criticized President Park.

Professor Kim Young Chin said he was offered but turned down the editorship of a Korean research journal by a man who has identified as cooperating with the KCIA.

H. Alan Krause, a State Department officer, said he thinks KCIA operatives had tested him in the past to see if they could use him but said he thought they knew by 1976 they could not.

Professor Lee Chong Sik of the University of Pennsylvania said he was not approached in 1976 but had been offered a trip to Korea, which he refused, in 1975.

Meanwhile, former House Speaker Carl Albert said Tuesday he has agreed to appear before the House ethics committee to testify about his trips to Korea and gifts from Korean officials.

"They have asked me to appear," Albert said from his office in McAlester, Okla.

Albert, who retired last year, said he was not sure what questions he would be asked but guessed they would involve trips he took to Korea.

Recall By Ford Makes '78 Record

DETROIT (AP) — More cars, trucks and vans have been recalled this year than in any other year on record.

The latest recall Tuesday of Ford Motor Co. light trucks and vans pushed the recall figure past the old year record, set in 1971.

Since Jan. 1, more than 8.7 million vehicles have been called back to dealers for repair of possible safety defects.

In 1971, only 1.8 million vehicles were recalled. Last year's figure was three million.

The Transportation Department on Tuesday announced the call back of 30,000 of Ford's 1978-model light trucks and vans to correct a potential fuel leak.

Document alleged the South Korean intelligence agency planned to install a spy network in the White House and to pay off aides to top U.S. leaders last year in hopes of winning United States support for South Korean. ## Ruling May Spark Taxes On More Wage Fringes

By RICHARD CARELLI

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that meal allowances paid to some 10,000 state police troopers may be taxed as income could spark federal attempts to tax other fringe benefits, a government tax expert says.

"It would not surprise me to see the treasury folks interpret the court's decision to mean that gross income covers a whole range of compensatory items not now taxed," a Justice Department lawyer specializing in tax issues said.

"If the Treasury Department wants to expand its taxing powers, today's decision could fuel any arguments it might make to back up such an expansion," he said, adding that chauffeurs and bodyguards are two such benefits that could come under scrutiny.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday handed state troopers in Louisiana a legal and financial setback when, in a case from New Jersey, it decided that routinely paid meal allowances may be taxed as income.

The decision affects any worker who receives a regular meal allowance for meals eaten on duty.

The justices, who decided the case on a 5-4 vote, were told it would affect meal allowances totaling $10 million a year.

Under the decision, any worker who has been receiving such an allowance since 1954 could be held liable for additional taxes owed the government if he or she failed to declare the money as income. Federal tax violations have a three-year statute of limitations.

The decision does not affect reimbursements made for meals and lodging for a worker who travels on company business, nor does it affect "sporadic" meal reimbursements received by workers on overtime or temporary assignment.

Members of the military are specifically exempt by federal law from paying taxes on housing and meal allowances.

And an IRS spokesman said the decision is "separate and apart" from the agency's present review of executive fringe benefits.

New Jersey trooper Robert J. Kowalski earned a base salary of $8,720 in 1976 and received an additional $1,007 in meal allowances. The IRS challenged Kowalski's tax return for that year after he failed to declare most of the meal-allowance money as income.

The high court's ruling Tuesday overturned a federal appellate court decision that Kowalski owed no additional taxes on the money.

Disagreeing with the court's decision, Justice Harry A. Blackmun said, "I fear that state troopers the country over, not handsomely paid to begin with, will never understand today's decision." He was joined in dissent by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Buy Own

LANSING, Mich. (AP)

State troopers in Michigan say they expect little impact from a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that meal allowances can be taxed as income.

"It doesn't affect us that much as far as troopers go," said Sgt. Gordon Gots, president of the 1,300-member Michigan State Police Troopers Association.

Under state Civil Service rules, troopers buy their own meals and are reimbursed up to a certain limit. They do not get a meal allowance.

Fisherman Dies In Superior

SACIT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — One man died but his companion survived a boating accident in Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay, the U.S. Coast Guard reported.

The men's 14-foot aluminum fishing boat became tangled in fishing nets and capsized Tuesday, throwing them into the chilly water.

David Tinker of Brimley was pulled up by a diver and flown to War Memorial Hospital in Sault Ste. Marie by Canadian helicopter.

Resuscitation efforts failed to revive him and he was declared dead Tuesday night, said Tom Ellis, hospital supervisor. Cause of death was listed as drowning.

The other fisherman, Roger Parish of Brimley, was pulled from the bay by rescuers.

VERMONTERS MAKE OWN 'JUICE'

Wind Machine Benefits Utility

By JOHN W. REID
Associated Press Writer
WILLISTON, Vt. (AP) — On a windy day, the Environmental Resource Group Products Center in Williston has more electricity than it can use, and the excess is pumped back to Green Mountain Power Corp.

That's because the store, which sells energy-related products ranging from flannel sheets and down comforters to solar heaters, wind and hydro generators and microwave ovens, has its own wind generator.

The key is a solid-state inverter that synchronizes electricity produced by the center's windmill with power provided by Green Mountain.

The Gemini Synchronic Inverter feeds commercial power into the building on calm days. The inverter sends the surplus back.

Until recently, the center's power meter ran backwards when the system was pumping excess electricity to Green Mountain. The power company has put a stop to that, and the center no longer gets credit on its bill for electricity it returns.

"The windmill runs at about 400 kilowatt-hours a month," about what the store uses in that period, said Jill Farnham, the center's vice president. She said the center's power bill, before the windmill was installed in October, was about $25 a month.

The windmill system, which costs about $6,000, is not practical — yet — for places where commercial power is readily available.

"But with electric rates climbing and the efficiency of wind generators improving, they could save consumers money in three to four years," Ms. Farnham said.

The inverter is important because it eliminates the need for storage batteries required by most home generators in use today. The storage batteries are needed to keep the voltage constant — even when the wind speed varies — and to store excess power for use on calm days.

Power company officials have objected to the inverter, maintaining they could end up having to pay consumers who produce excess electricity and feed it back into the commercial system.

"There is always fear when you have a monopoly, and you can see that monopoly slipping away," said Ms. Farnham.

Power companies also have objected that a lineman working on a cable presumed to have no electricity could get a shock from a nearby home unit still producing power. But Ms.

Farnham said home generators with inverters don't pose a safety problem because they work only when the commercial power is on.

"If the power company shuts off its power, the inverter stops working and a circuit breaker is opened to prevent our electricity from going into the commercial line," she said.

Musicians To Pay For Calls From Overseas Servicemen

The Twin City Federation of Musicians and hundreds of other locals of the American Federation of Musicians (AFM) again this Christmas will pay for telephone calls made by military personnel overseas to their homes in the United States.

Dorothy Elmer, an officer of Twin City Local 232, said the Christmas phone call service is in its 10th year. It allows America's men and women in uniform to call home during a 72-hour period beginning at 12:01 a.m. Dec. 24.

She explained the calls must originate overseas. They are transmitted by the Military Affiliate Radio Service to a ham radio station in Mansfield, Ohio. Robert Almonte, amateur radio operator and president of AFM Local 159 in Mansfield, will route the calls to their final destinations through regular telephone wires. These costs will be paid for by the AFM. The union won't pay for calls made entirely through the telephone system.

Military personnel should make advanced arrangements with the radio operator at their base. Last year, over 1,800 calls were completed through Almonte's ham radio station.

Berrien CETA Youth Jobs Get $500,000

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

The Berrien County CETA office is now planning two job programs with a total budget of $500,000 that could provide full and part-time jobs for up to 500 youths beginning in January, according to Weldon L. Burden, CETA manpower director. The money for the programs is being provided by the federal government under a youth act signed into law by President Carter in August.

Berrien County CETA will receive $423,102 under the Youth

Employment and Training (YETP) portion of the bill for part-time jobs for high school students between the ages of 16 and 21.

The county CETA office will receive another $93,128 under the bill's Youth Community Conservation and Improvements Program (YCCIP) to provide nine months of full-time employment to nonstudents between the ages of 16 and 19. The nonstudents will work for Berrien County Action weatherizing houses belonging to low-income owners, Burden said.

"YCCIP seeks to provide youth who are experiencing severe difficulty in obtaining employment with well-supervised work in projects that produce tangible benefits to the community," Burden stated. Preference will be given to economically disadvantaged youths. The CETA grant will pay wages of the youths and supervisors and DCA will provide weatherization materials from other federal grants it has received, according to Burden.

The YETP program will involve students in the 14 public high schools in Berrien County. They must be unemployed or underemployed and come from families whose income is below 85 per cent of the lower living standard income level.

They will be given part-time jobs of eight to 15 hours a week in the school district or for a local governmental unit, Burden said. Wages will be paid by the CETA grant. At the same time, they will receive counseling and supervision aimed at enabling them to eventually obtain unsubsidized employment, Burden stated.

Exact job descriptions have not been prepared yet, but the program must be ready to start by Jan. 1. "The program should have some impact on the high school drop-out rate by providing earned income coupled with wide-ranging counseling services to participants identified as potential dropouts," he said.

Area Students In Math Finals

Twenty-one high school students in southwestern Michigan have placed among the top four per cent of high school students from across the state who took preliminary tests in the annual Michigan mathematics competition.

The students are among 1,000 semi-finalists who scored high enough to be eligible to compete in a final examination at their home schools to be given Wednesday, Dec. 7, according to contest director A.C. Dempster, a professor of mathematics at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti. About 21,000 students took the preliminary test on Oct. 19.

At stake in the final examination are about $7,000 worth of college scholarships. Last year, $7,300 in scholarship prizes, ranging from $100 to $500, were distributed among the top 44 high school mathematicians.

The contest, in its 21st year, is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America.

Semi-finalists from these high schools will be taking the final exams:

Bradywine — Tracy Gilliom, a junior.

Buchanan — Seniors Joanne Wilcox, Sue Trull and Wayne Simmers.

Decatur — Timothy McLeese, a junior.

Fennville — Richard Elliott, a senior.

Lake Michigan Catholic — William Rogers, a senior.

Lakeshore — Sarah Kirby, a junior.

Lawrence — Andrew Jurczak, a junior.

Niles — Tim Mallett, senior; and Rex Sadick, a junior.

ONE PAID ONLY $18 IN SIX YEARS Five Fathers Given Jail Terms

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Niles father who has made two child support payments in six years for a total of $18 was among five men sentenced to jail this week in Berrien Circuit Court for nonpayment.

They were among 10 men sentenced to probation for arrears totaling $20,730 for 12 children, according to Edward J. Patrick and Joseph Beckmann, investigators for the Berrien Circuit Court's office. All the jail terms were imposed by Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Dan McFadden, of 2613 N. Fifth St., Niles, was sentenced to 60 days in jail for $1,258 arrears for one child on ADC. Byrns ordered McFadden to find work within 60 days of his release from jail or report back to court.

The judge also ordered him to start a wage assignment for $12 weekly support and $2 per week on the arrears, and warned that if one payment is missed McFadden is to spend the following weekend in jail.

Beckmann said McFadden made two support payments for a total of $18 in 1972 when the support order started, but has not made any since then.

In other cases before Byrns: David Smith, of 403 Linden Ave., Benton Township, received a 60-day jail term for arrears of $2,419 for one ADC child, and was told to find employment within 60 days of his release or spend another 60 days behind bars. Beckmann said Smith's last payment was in December, 1975.

Don Triplett, of 118 Plum Court, Benton Harbor, also received a 60-day jail term for $885 arrears for one child on ADC, and was also told to find work in 60 days of his release or spend 60 days in jail. He was also told to sign a wage assignment of $26 weekly support and $5 a week on the arrears.

Arthur L. Brown, of 789 Thresher Ave., Benton Harbor, was sentenced to spend 20 Thursdays in jail beginning Dec. 1 for $1,140 arrears for one ADC child, and was also told to pay $18 weekly support and $5 weekly on the arrears.

William Jankowski, of Three Oaks, was sentenced to 10 weekends in jail for arrears of $4,022 for two children on ADC, and was ordered to sign a wage assignment of $30 weekly support and $10 weekly on the arrears. The judge said the weekend jail term did not have to include Christmas and New Year's weekends.

Floyd Haley, of 628 Superior St., Benton Harbor, was ordered to pay $400 by Friday towards an arrearage of $1,330 for one ADC child or spend 10 weekends in jail. Byrns also ordered Haley to sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support and $10 per week on the arrears, and said that if one payment is missed Haley is to spend the following weekend in jail.

In cases before Judge William S. White:

Conrad Blewett, of 3650 E. Grand Ave., Benton Harbor, was sentenced to two years probation for $4,961 arrears for one child. Patrick said the youth has since turned 18, and the money is all owed to the mother.

Allegan Death Still A Mystery

ALLEGAN — The exact cause of death of Kirk J. Grauman, 21, Allegan, found dead in his home Sunday after a party, has not yet been determined, according to the Allegan County Sheriff's Department here.

According to sheriff's detectives, an autopsy Monday revealed there was no indication of death-related wounds or injuries. Blood samples have been sent to the state police crime laboratory in Holland and test results are expected sometime next week, detectives said.

Grauman, 742 Grand St., was found dead by party guests at a bachelor's party at the Grauman home Sunday morning. Detectives said Grauman was not the groom-to-be.

Bill Hikes Drunk Penalties

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill increasing penalties for drunk drivers was approved by the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday. The committee voted 11-0 to send the bill to the House. The measure raises the maximum fine for driving while intoxicated from $100 to $500 and maintains a 30-day jail term. The fine for motorists found to be driving while "visibly impaired" would be raised from $100 to $250. That offense allows police to cite drivers who appear to be intoxicated. "People are being killed on the highways left and right, and somebody committing a serious offense such as driving under the influence of alcohol should pay for it," said Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Little Rock, the bill's sponsor.

Board, Teachers Reach Agreement In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Negotiators for the Dowagiac School Board and Dowagiac Education Association have reached a tentative agreement on a new master teaching contract.

The tentative agreement was reached at 3 a.m. this morning following a lengthy negotiating session which started at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

In a joint statement issued this morning by the DEA and school board it was stated that details of the new master contract are being withheld pending ratification by the teachers and school board.

Teachers are expected to vote on the tentative agreement Thursday, Dec. 1, and the school board is expected to act on it at its next meeting, Monday, Dec. 5, according to the statement.

Negotiations on the new contract began in the summer.

It appeared last week that contract negotiations had reached an impasse with the DEA requesting binding arbitration and Superintendent Lionel Stacey calling for a vote of school district residents to decide what kind of pay raise teachers should get.

SMC's $1 Million Bond Sells For 4.46% Interest

DOWAGIAC — A $1 million bond issue to help pay for a new $3.6 million building at Southwestern Michigan College here was sold Tuesday night by the college's Board of Trustees.

The issue went to the Community State Bank of Dowagiac in conjunction with the First Michigan Bank and Trust Co., Zeeland.

The interest rate on the purchase was 4.46375 and was lowest among 11 offers received. It will cost $413,278 over the 10.7-year life of the issue. The interest bids ranged to 4.9881 percent.

The second lowest bidder was First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles.

at 4.522535 percent or only $4,121 more in interest costs.

Dr. Fred Mathews, president of the SMC Board expressed gratitude for the support shown by the area banks.

"It is significant that such low bids have come from two institutions in our own area," he said. "It shows they have confidence in us."

The SMC Board voted 6-0 in the special session to accept the low bid. Dr. Mathews abstained from voting as he is a director of the bank.

Dr. Mathews said the bonds, as it looks now, could be retired without levying any additional property taxes on SMC district residents.

In addition to the $1 million generated from the bond sale, the remainder of funds for construction of the $3.6 million, 72,000 square foot building will come from the college's reserve fund and $1,700,000 in matching funds over a three-year period from the state.

Construction of the multi-purpose instructional facility in the southeast section of the SMC campus is expected to begin next spring. Daverman Associates, Grand Rapids, are project architects.

The proposed building will be the largest on campus. It will be two stories high housing general classrooms and specialized laboratory spaces for programs in music, art, drama, business, architecture, drafting, technical science and developmental self-help. The building also will contain space for faculty and support staff.

The board also announced that a small group of employees at SMC voted Tuesday in favor of union representation by the Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO.

The vote was 9-7. A total of 19 maintenance, custodial and some secretarial employees will be represented in collective bargaining by the union. The election was conducted by a representative of the Michigan Labor Relations Board.

Niles Clinic Offers Shots For Children

NILES — The Berrien County Health Department offers child immunization clinics for county residents every Thursday from 9-11:30 a.m. at the health department's office here.

Mike Wood, department health educator, said inadequate immunization levels exist across the county, including Berrien county. Voluntary donations for the immunizations are accepted at the county clinic.

Berrien Residents Add 413 Pints To Blood Drive

Carol Green, county blood coordinator, said 214 pints were collected at Mercy Hospital, Benton Harbor; 80 at Lake Michigan College; 71 at New Buffalo; and 51 at the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan.

Dates scheduled for the bloodmobile in December include:

Dec. 1 — Bendis Corp., St. Joseph, noon to 6 p.m.
Dec. 2 — Bendis Corp., 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Dec. 5 — Congregational Church, Niles, Avenue, St. Joseph, noon to 6 p.m.
Dec. 6 — Auto Specialties, St. Joseph, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Dec. 12 — St. Mary's Hall, Three Oaks, noon to 6 p.m.
Dec. 13 — Grace United Methodist Church, Niles, noon to 6 p.m.

Collections since the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, total 1,974 with 4,026 remaining to be collected by June 30 to meet the goal of 6,000 pints, according to Mrs. Green.

Joining the bloodmobile honor roll as one gallon donors were Vivian Saravate, Sharon Harris, Carol Hirsch, Ronald Thelen, Suzanne McGregor, Richard Linn, Lawrence Thurn, Donna Larko and Rudolph Enzberg, all of Niles; Patrick Walsh and Nancy Clements, both of Benton Harbor; James Fette and Dale Forrier, both of St. Joseph; Kent Stoum, Stevensville; Dorothy Marks, Eau Claire; and Ginger Hollacher, Columbia.

AREA POLICE ROUNDUP

Woman Motorist Reports Attack By Armed Man

A Benton Harbor woman reported Tuesday evening a man struck her in the face and then fired three shots from a small handgun at her car after she stopped the auto on the 700 block of Ogden, according to Benton Harbor police.

Police said Mary Velasquez, 35, of 693 Ogden, told them neither she nor a passenger in her auto, John Knox, 26, of 530 Broadway, were wounded by the shots.

Patrolman Ron Pell said the woman told him she had just stopped her auto on Ogden at about 6 p.m. Tuesday when a man approached the car, opened the driver's door and attempted to drag her out of the vehicle.

She said she was struck in the face either by the man's fist or by a small handgun he was carrying during a struggle, according to Pell.

The gunman fired shots at two of the auto's tires and fired a third shot into the interior of the car before fleeing on foot toward Pipestone Street. Pell said the woman reported.

Police said Mary Velasquez told them she knew the gunman but officers did not report a motive for the alleged assault.

Benton Harbor police said the woman's description of the gunman matched one given to police by William Wade, 53, of 854 Wauconda, who reported at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday his auto had been stolen by a man who held him at gunpoint.

Patrolman Pell said Wade told officers he was forced into his car by a man with a gun near the intersection of Paw Paw Avenue and East Main Street but was later released unharmed near the intersection of Highland and Crystal in Benton Township.

The gunman drove away in Wade's 1976 Buick Skylark after releasing the auto's owner, Pell reported.

Benton Township police reported Tuesday a Grand Rapids man was lodged in the Berrien County Jail after his arrest on a six-count armed robbery warrant issued in May of 1975.

Lt. Jack Drach reported Richard Alan Krulcek, 25, was booked at 4:45 p.m. in connection with the May 11, 1975, armed robbery of six people inside a house located at 1317 Ogden.

Drach said Krulcek was arrested by Grand Rapids police on a traffic charge and a subsequent check with the Law Enforcement Information Network revealed that he was wanted by Benton Township police. Grand Rapids police turned Krulcek over to township police Tuesday.

Berrien sheriff's officers reported Tuesday James LaMunio, of 2050 Marquette Woods Road, Lincoln Township, was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a .32-caliber handgun — in an auto in Lincoln Township on Nov. 28. Both failed to post $2,500 bail and were jailed.

Gordon Montell Miller, 35, of 5825 Carmody Road, Coloma Township, was released on his own recognizance after demanding examination on a charge of larceny from a building. He is accused of taking money belonging to Leslie Ballard at the YMCA, 233 Michigan St., Benton Harbor, on Nov. 28.

Sentenced yesterday on misdemeanor charges were: Andrew Preston Craig, 17, of 180 Catalpa Ave., Benton Harbor, $127 fine and costs or 30 days for larceny under $100 — a cassette recorder — from Oso Drugs on Napier Ave. in Benton Township on Nov. 28.

Jeanne Marie Rines, 28, of 2235 Carol Lane, Stevensville, $165 for assault and battery on Berrien County Sheriff's Deputy Thomas Spencer in Lincoln Township on Oct. 9. Ronald G. Tipton, 48, of 1395 Territorial Road, Benton Township, $110 for disorderly person — refused from resisting and obstructing a police officer — in Benton Township on Nov. 16.

Lesley Gulliday, 32, of 946 Jennings Ave., Benton Harbor, $55 for reckless use of firearms — a .38-caliber pistol — in Benton Township on Nov. 22.

Larry Cesar Sims, 46, of 331 Burton St., Benton Township, 90 days for driving while license denied in Benton Township on June 25.

Murray Ray Logan Jr., 28, Fairhope, Ala., $155 or 30 days for driving while under the influence of intoxicants in Lincoln Township on Nov. 29.

Tom J. Wade, 25, Cottage No. 6, Gothic Road, Lakeside, $107 for impaired driving in Chikaming Township on Nov. 27.

Housing Stirs Recall Attempt

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Six members of this post Detroit suburb's city commission are targets of a recall campaign over a housing plan for the elderly and low-income families.

Rejecting a compromise aimed at neutralizing opposition, an angry group of homeowners vowed to oust the commissioners who supported it.

The compromise postpones construction of any low-income units for at least 60 days while the city seeks an alternate method to finance the housing for the aged.

But Nancy Elby, leader of the homeowners' group, said, "The word 'compromise' is not in our dictionary."

The group opposes a proposal to build a six-story, 152-unit apartment building for the elderly in downtown Birmingham. The construction was authorized by residents in an April 1976 vote.

But later, state officials said they would not provide funding for the project unless 50 housing units for low-income families also were built in the city.

Birmingham officials agreed reluctantly, but more than 4,700 signatures were secured by the homeowners' group on petitions demanding a vote on the new proposal.

Mayor Dorothy Conrad, one of the recall targets, said the compromise plan adopted Monday only authorizes construction of housing for the aged, giving the city housing commission 90 days to find a means of financing that would not require building units for low-income families.

"If this group favors senior housing, as they say, they should be willing to give us 60 days to find a solution," she said.

Only one of the city's commissioners was excluded from the recall plan. He was Robert Kelly, the lone opponent of the plan.

Cassopolis To Name President

CASSOPOLIS — The Cassopolis Village Council will hold a special session Monday, Dec. 5, to name a replacement for village President Donald Horne, whose resignation is effective the same day.

Horne stepped down as village president because he said his recent purchase of a drug store here which sells liquor conflicts with the president's role as chief law enforcement officer for Cassopolis.

Horne said he stepped down after receiving an opinion from the village attorney that he could be prohibited from continuing to sell alcoholic beverages at the drug store because of the conflict.

State Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) said today that he introduced legislation in the state house Tuesday that would permit mayors to continue to hold such licenses and their public offices. Mittan said it might be necessary to amend the bill to add village presidents.

Horne's replacement will serve until next March, when the village's general election is held.

Officers said James E. Williams, of 928 Buss, told them he parked his 1960 Pontiac LeMans on the street in front of his home at about midnight Monday and discovered the auto missing at 5:35 a.m. Tuesday.

Police reported the missing auto was described as tan with one blue door and is valued at $500.

Other thefts reported in city police were:

—A CB radio valued at $70 from a truck owned by George Phairas, of 662 Montezuma, Fairplain, while the truck was parked the 100 block of Kline.

Susan Van Bragt, of 1507 Nickerson, told Benton Township police Tuesday her studebaker valued at $250 was stolen from her car sometime in the previous two days.

Police reported she did not know when the coat was taken from the car, which she said had been parked in St. Joseph, Grand Rapids, at Fairplain Plaza, as well as at her home, during that period.

Curb Horses, Man Urges Troy Council

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Sidewalks are for people, not horses.

That's the point James Myers is trying to make to the Troy City Council.

Many Troy residents are horse owners, says Myers. The problem is that Troy is a Detroit suburb with about 45,000 residents and a limited amount of open space. Riders put their animals through their paces on the sidewalks instead of on busy streets.

Myers lives in a quiet residential neighborhood where car traffic is generally light, but he says riders nonetheless use the sidewalks as a bridge path.

The horses defecate on the sidewalk and pose a threat to pedestrians, says Myers.

"Cold weather does not stop the horses or people involved," Myers said in a letter to the city council. "They were riding on Thanksgiving day."

Myers' complaint to the city council was referred to the Animal Control Board, which was ordered to review the complaint and consider a proposed ordinance that would bar horses from sidewalks. The board is scheduled to report to the council Dec. 19.

"I hope the animal control board has the same concern for humans as they do for animals," says Myers.

Bangor Motorist Trapped In Car

COVERT — A Bangor man was trapped in his partially submerged car for nearly an hour early today after it caromed off a bridge guard rail and ended up in Cedar Creek northeast of here. Wendall Noaker, 24, Route 2, was listed in fairly good condition today at South Haven Community Hospital as a result of the 4:20 a.m. accident. State troopers from the South Haven post said they had to hold Noaker's head above the water until he was freed by Covert Township firemen and state police. Noaker, who was alone in the auto, was trapped under the auto's dashboard, police said. Police said Noaker was ensnared on CR-378 in Covert Township when the accident occurred. The accident remains under investigation.

Firm Accused In South Haven

By TOM KENNER
SOUTH HAVEN — Four Star Corp., 1415 Kalamazoo St., here was cited Tuesday by city officials for alleged violation of the sewage disposal ordinance.

The misdemeanor charge alleges that on 19 different occasions during November the firm put acid solutions into the city's sewer system in excess of the level allowed by the ordinance, according to Basil Seltzer, sewage plant superintendent.

Seltzer said the city has been in contact with the firm, which places automotive parts, for over a year regarding the problem. He said the city had not pursued legal means earlier in hopes that the firm would correct the problem.

Seltzer said the high acid content neutralized the treatment process at the city plant. He said it resulted in the city putting waste into the Black River with a higher acidity level than allowed by the state.

The warrant was authorized by City Attorney William Verdonk and issued by Seventh District Court Judge Donald Goodwillie Jr. The ordinance provides for a fine of up to $100 a day for each violation.

Charles Nicholson, Four Star Corp. plant manager, said "The city has been pretty lenient, but at the same time we have spent many thousands of dollars trying to reach compliance. We used to be in total violation, but now it is a sporadic problem that we are seeking to resolve."

A MISNOMER
NEW YORK (NKA) — Ninth-century settlers saw "smoke" rising and named Iceland's capital Reykjavik, or smoky bay. The smoke was actually steam from hot springs.

Admirals responsible for the program, the Pentagon's largest, say General Dynamics Corp. encountered difficulties partly because of a new construction method.

Firm Hit For Delay On Trident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is blaming its private contractor for the $400 million additional cost and one-year delay in deployment of its giant missile-firing Trident submarine.

The additional cost, 50 percent over the original estimate, will boost the 18,700-ton submarine's price to $1.2 billion. That does not include the cost for building its 24 missiles and nuclear reactor.

The submarine will not be ready for combat until early 1981, the Navy said.

Rear Adm. Donald P. Hall, Trident project officer, told reporters on Tuesday that General Dynamics also had trouble rounding up workers and resources to complete the job within the time period projected when the contract was signed in 1974.

"This is a complex, very large ship," said Hall. "We've never put together a ship of this size before."

Hartford Garage

HARTFORD — Fire here Tuesday night destroyed a one-car garage at the Gerald Noble residence and damaged their home, according to Hartford Fire Chief Harold Walker Jr.

Walker said the 9:10 p.m. fire was spotted by two Hartford policemen who were on patrol duty. Sgt. Michael Heidenreich and Patrolman William Strong called Hartford firemen then assisted the Noble family safely from the house on West Shepherd Street.

Walker said the cause of the blaze is undetermined, but said Noble was working in the garage a short time before the fire broke out. The garage is not attached to the house, but flames charred the outside of the house and spread to walls and the attic area, Walker said.

BH Youth Waives Hearing On Stolen Property Charge

A Benton Harbor youth was bound over to Berrien Circuit Court after waiving examination in district court Tuesday on a felony charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

William Maurice Lindsey, 17, of 1020 Broadway St., is accused of receiving and concealing an oscilloscope allegedly stolen from Benton Harbor High School on Nov. 14. He was released by Fifth District Judge Ronald J. Taylor on his own recognizance.

In other district court action Tuesday, four men demanded examinations on felony charges.

Lawrence Henry Combs, 35, of 511 Rosehill Road, Berrien Springs, demanded examination on a charge of assault and battery on Michael E. Dotson in Berrien Springs on Nov. 28. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Bobby Williams, 29, and his brother Ricky Williams, 17, both of Detroit, demanded examinations on identical charges of carrying a concealed weapon — a .32-caliber handgun — in an auto in Lincoln Township on Nov. 28. Both failed to post $2,500 bail and were jailed.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened lower today, after a sharp fall in the previous session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, down more than 12 points on Tuesday, slipped another 3.29 to 823.88 within the first half hour on the New York Stock Exchange.

Over-all losers outnumbered gainers by a margin of more than 5-2 among NYSE-listed issues.

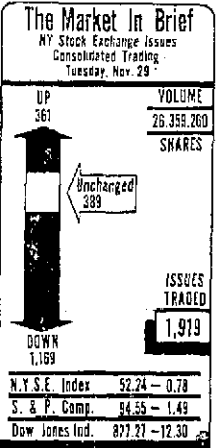

Analysts expressed some surprise at the size of the decline on Tuesday and cited a variety of reasons including profit-taking, worries about a delay in the government's energy package and concern that a pending decision of foreign tax credits might mean additional losses for many large oil companies.

Early prices on active issues today included International Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/2 to 32; General Motors, off 3/4 to 64; and U.S. Steel, down 7/8 to 29.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average closed off 12.30 points at 827.27, its largest drop in a single day since July 27, when it fell more than 19.75 points.

Over-all losing issues outnumbered gainers by a margin of more than 3-to-1 among New York Stock Exchange listed issues. Big Board volume came to a fairly active 22.95 million shares, against 21.57 million the previous session.

The NYSE composite index of all listed common stocks lost .78 to 52.24. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell 1.25 points to 122.23.

BIG DIP: The stock market dropped sharply Tuesday as the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial posted the largest single-day loss in four months. The blue chip indicator fell 12.30 points to close at 827.27 and losers outnumbered gainers 3-to-1 among New York Stock Exchange listed issues. (AP Laserphoto Chart)

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Where'd You Hear Only 'Up' Is Good?

By SAM SHULSKY
Q: The stock market is frightening. It seems some elements (short-sellers, specialists?) are trying to drive it down despite better earnings. I'm scared!

A: Being scared of the stock market is nothing to be ashamed of. If more people were sufficiently scared of crossroads busy avenues to wait for the green light, there would be less casualties. If more people were scared of the stock market, if more people played it safer, their investment accounts would be much healthier.

The stock market, in one, is always frightening even if that frightening element is slightly below the surface — latent, but out of sight. In fact, the less frightening the market, the more dangerous it is for non-professional investors.

Where did you ever get the idea that the stock market was your friendly corner grocery or drug store? True, if you buy a sound stock and take it home, the risk is something the average investor can undertake. But if you think of the stock market as a giant football field on which you are trying to move the ball one way and "they" are driving it the other, you are bound to run into odds you will never consider in a sports event.

You seem to be looking under the bed for "some elements" who are "trying to crash the market," as you put it, and suspect "short-sellers, specialists." (Why you should lump them together beats me. A specialist — if he does his job of making an orderly market — will most likely have to acquire stock in a declining market. He can show a profit only if the market turns around.)

In any event, I am not going to get in the middle of the all-too-popular specialist witch hunt. I refuse to believe that they are at the center of every bit of stock market chicanery, just as I don't believe they are all St. Bernards with brandy barrels preventing wholesale death on the slopes. Sometimes I think their elimination would serve to bring home to the amateur a much-needed lesson of how dangerous a stock market can, and should be. In any event, they have always appeared to me to be capitalism's confused compromise with the free market system it preaches. But that doesn't make them necessarily evil.

As to short-selling:
A trader who goes short of a stock does so because he expects it to decline in price. I don't understand why selling short should be labeled an evil pursuit (something like foreclosing on the old homestead mortgage). A bear has a much right to his opinion as has a bull. As a matter of fact more fundamental damage is done to the securities markets by unbridled bullishness than by short-selling bears because there is no limit to the heights to which rampant bulls can drive market prices. Market crashes almost always follow periods of unrestrained bullishness. But short-sellers' attempts to drive a market to lower levels for many years have been restricted by market regulations. A bear raid, in the sense of those pre-Crash assaults on a stock's price, is now virtually impossible.

It is popular to think of a rising market as a "smiling" one. "Is everybody happy?" and a rising Dow Jones average bring out a rewording of "yes." Everybody, or, at least most non-professional stock traders, love a rising stock market. (Go one of course, likes climbing cities, sugar or bread prices.) A plus 5.25 points on the Dow brings euphoria, whereas a minus 5.25 brings gloom — even though the minus figure often represents a far more realistic analysis of current business and economic conditions and, even more importantly, may be a sounder portent of things to come.

Barely does it allow for over-enthusiastic judgment, as witness your premise that the market decline this year came in the face of "better" earnings. It isn't necessarily so. A recent Citibank survey discloses that whereas only four of more than 20 basic industries reported lower net income in the third quarter (vs. the third quarter of 1976), 12 of these groups' earnings were below second quarter 1977 figures.

Maybe the discouraging stock market of January through October really knew the score better than the politicians and their economists who kept telling us, a la Emile Coue, that "day by day" everything was getting better and better.

Despite the general unwillingness to face facts, Wall Street is one-way only for automobile traffic. Prices can and do move in both directions and that fact is a reasonable concomitant of a free market. There is no law which says "up" is good and "down" is bad. In fact, there could be no "ups" without "downs."

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Simon: U.S. Needs Tax Cuts

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary William E. Simon says tax cuts for business, regulatory reform and fiscal and monetary restraint should be high on the nation's agenda for 1978.

Simon told some 500 business leaders attending a Capital Formation Conference on Tuesday that business also must win the political fight as well as the economic battle.

"There does not appear to be a groundswell of support in the public and in the Congress and in certain parts of the administration for stimulating greater capital investment," he said. He urged business leaders to strengthen that support so politicians "will know that how they vote on economic policies will ultimately make a difference in the ballot box."

Simon said current economic troubles stem from what he called the mistaken belief that "only government holds the keys to the economic kingdom." To argue "that only through vastly expanded public works programs can we solve our unemployment problems is to completely misunderstand the foundations of a free economic system," Simon said.

Another speaker, Roger E. Anderson, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., urged Congress to enact a "full-dress tax reform or revision package" to provide incentives to stimulate business investment.

Anderson said work should begin immediately on an across-the-board cut in corporate and personal income taxes. Anderson also suggested that higher investment tax credits and accelerated depreciation could be used as investment incentives.

Dr. Paul W. McCracken, former presidential adviser and currently a professor at the University of Michigan, told the conference that growth and modernization of plants and equipment this decade has been more sluggish than at any time since the Great Depression.

"We have seen, in short, a reduction in the profitability of corporate assets and a shrinkage in retained earnings during the last decade," McCracken said. "That we might then see associated with these developments a sluggish pace of outlays on new facilities and equipment is hardly surprising."

Like Anderson, McCracken called for more investment incentives. He added that "the single most important contribution that government could make to orderly financing would be firm restraint on budget outlays in order that both the volume of treasury borrowing and taxes can be reduced."

"We must then have a reduction in corporate profits tax rates of about 4 percentage points, an increase in the investment tax credit or some combination of the two," McCracken said. "The probability that without some such action capital formation will remain sluggish is high."

State 9th In Family Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan ranks ninth in the nation in median family income and is tied for 20th in the proportion of residents living in poverty, according to new Census Bureau statistics.

Michigan has $20,000 persons living in poverty, or 9.1 percent, the same proportion as Colorado, according to the statistics from a special 1975 survey released Monday.

The study defined poverty as an annual cash income of $3,500 or less for a household of four persons. Benefits such as food stamps are not counted.

The median family income in Michigan was $15,383, between Massachusetts at $15,531 and New York, $15,288. The median income is defined as that income which divides families into two groups of equal size, one group getting more and one group getting less.

The study said the government had overestimated the number of poor persons in the country by about 7 percent. It put the number of poor at 24 million.

Alaska had the highest median family income, $22,432, and Mississippi the lowest, $9,388.

Connecticut and Alaska had the lowest proportion of poor residents, 6.7 percent, while Mississippi had the highest, 26.7 percent.

Ford Recalls About 30,000 Trucks, Vans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is recalling about 30,000 1978 light trucks and vans to correct a potential fuel leak, the Transportation Department announced Tuesday.

Models involved are F-100, F-150, F-250 and F-350 light trucks; E-150, E-250 and E-350 Econoline vans; and E300, E350 and E350 Club Wagons, all equipped with 300 CID engines and Carter-V8 carburetors.

The announcement said the engines in these vehicles may be subject to fuel leakage at the carburetor-fuel filter connection.

TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Rain is forecast today for most of the East. Snow flurries are expected in the northern Plains, and snow is expected for Minnesota and Wisconsin. Mild weather is forecast for Atlantic coast states but most of the country is expected to be cold. (AP Laserphoto)

SMALL BUSINESS LOANS FOR WOMEN

Are you a woman who wants to go into business for yourself but who has been stymied by problems in getting a loan because of your sex? Could you use more counsel on how to seek credit? Make financial projections? Write resumes? Develop operating plans?

To meet these very real needs, the Carter administration is sponsoring a new program under which the Small Business Administration is launching a Women-in-Business Ownership campaign. The target is $100 million in loans per quarter for women, made by banks across the U.S. with the federal government's guarantee.

To get the program off the ground, the SBA has been holding, and will continue to hold until Dec. 15, one-day seminars for bank officials and interested women in its district offices. At these seminars, women are hearing discussions on personal qualifications, financing, a business, sources of capital, forms of business organizations, marketing/advertising, business records, resources locally available, consumer-business relations.

The one-day seminars already have been held in Atlanta, Little Rock, Wichita, Denver, Dallas, and Houston. Still to come are meetings in Hartford, Washington and Memphis (Dec. 3), and Miami (Dec. 10). If you want more facts about district seminars, write Barbara B. Dunn, director of Women in Business and Consumer Affairs, SBA, 1441 L. St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418. Or phone (202) 633-6777.

Following these introductory sessions will be two-day seminars designed for women already in business to be held in the SBA's regional offices between January and May 1978.

You may write to a regional office of the SBA for the spring dates. Offices are in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Pa. (Philadelphia), Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Kansas City, Denver, San Francisco, and Seattle. Several regions will hold more than one seminar, reports Ms. Dunn, and emphasis will be placed on improving the opportunities for women to bid successfully for government contracts and on disseminating procurement information to you who want and need it.

"The SBA is going to have a 'new look' — internally, with greater stress on the appointment and promotion of women, and externally, with a strong definitive program to encourage business ownership by women."

"We are committed to the use of SBA as a major instrument to assist women in gaining entry into the small business sector."

At the start, this campaign is to be geared to short-term goals to recruit SBA priorities. A pilot program will be developed in a selected area where women already have experience and the leap to ownership position is not that great.

At this time, the focus will be on needs of women seeking business loans through the Small Business Investment Company program.

Retired business volunteers and active executives will provide counseling on management and on training managers. The SBA will increase the number of women loan officers and supervisory officers to provide more sensitivity to the problems women face in business. In each of the SBA's 19 regional offices, a special representative will be designated for Women in Business. A special representative also will be designated to help women

Accountant Must Pay $30 Million

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Twenty banks and two insurance companies have been awarded a total of $30,414,000 damages from the accounting firm of Touche Ross & Co.

After an eight-month trial and a week of deliberations, a jury Tuesday ruled Touche Ross guilty of negligent misrepresentation in endorsing financial statements of U.S. Financial Inc., a conglomerate which declared bankruptcy in 1973.

At that time, the bankruptcy of the one-time $360-million firm was the largest in U.S. history.

The money damages ranged from a high of $6,177,371 to Chemical Bank of New York City to a low of $232,538 to the Bank of British Columbia

VAN BUREN DISTRICT COURT

Portage Man Gets Year In Jail

PAW PAW BUREAU
PAW PAW — Janus D. "I.Q." Kirby, 30, Portage, was sentenced Tuesday in Seventh District Court here to serve a year in jail on a charge of conspiracy to commit arson.

Kirby was accused of burning a pickup truck belonging to Robert Larry Brown, 31, Schoolcraft, on Feb. 4, 1976 for pay.

Brown was convicted earlier this month by a Van Buren Circuit Court jury on a charge of burning insured property with intent to defraud, and is awaiting sentencing. Testimony at the trial indicated that Kirby had been paid $100 to burn the truck.

The truck was recovered near Paw Paw.

Kirby had pleaded guilty to the conspiracy to commit arson charge last March, but failed to appear for sentencing, according to court records. He was given credit for 87 days already served in custody.

Judge William C. Buhl also found Kirby in contempt of court for failing to appear for sentencing and ordered that he serve another 30 days in jail. The sentences are to be served concurrently.

Kirby yesterday also waived preliminary examination on a charge that he absconded on a $3,500 bond while awaiting sentencing on the arson charge, and was bound over to circuit court.

In other cases, Judge Buhl sentenced Lennie L. Barber, 49, 494 Street, Hartford, to serve nine months in jail as a result of his guilty plea to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, second offense, on July 16 in Hartford.

The sentence is concurrent with a one year jail term Barber is serving in Berrien County for probation violation of an impaired driving conviction.

Norman V. Guess, 28, 345 S. Fair Ave., Benton Harbor, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .25-caliber pistol, on Interstate 94 near Paw Paw on Nov. 19.

A former Bangor man, Anthony Gordon, 23, Leavonworth, Kan., was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on a charge of absconding on a personal recognizance bond. The bond was furnished in connection with a charge against Gordon of carrying a concealed weapon, a knife, in Bangor on July 31, 1976.

Demanding preliminary examinations were: Randy S. Stewart, 25, Mt. Pleasant, on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .387 magnum revolver, on I-94 near Paw Paw on Monday. He was released on his own recognizance pending a Dec. 6 hearing.

Charles L. Stacey, 39, 430 Railroad St., Lawton, on a charge of resisting arrest by state police following a disturbance outside a Lawrence bar last Saturday. He was also released on his own recognizance pending a Dec. 6 hearing.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FIDELITY

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made February 21, 1977, by DEN SHIPLEY AND VIOLET SHIPLEY, Husband and wife, as mortgagors, to the Consumers Mortgage Company, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Michigan, as mortgagee, and recorded on March 22, 1977, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Berrien County, Michigan in Liber 1642 of Mortgages, on Page 61; on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid to date of this Notice, Thirteen Thousand Three Hundred Sixty Nine and 29/100 ($13,369.32) Dollars, including interest computed to date of first publication; no suits or proceedings in law or in equity have been instituted to recover the debts or any part of the debts secured by said mortgage, and the power of sale in said mortgage contained having become operative by reason of such default:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on December 29, 1977 at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, local time, on the Front Steps of the Berrien County Courthouse, City of St. Joseph, Michigan, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for the County of Berrien, there will be offered for sale and sold to the highest bidder at public auction for the purpose of satisfying the amount due and unpaid upon such mortgage, together with six percent (6%) interest, legal costs and charges and expenses, including the attorney fee allowed by law, and all taxes and insurance premiums paid by the mortgagee before sale, the land and premises in said mortgage mentioned and situated in the City of Benton Harbor, County of Berrien, State of Michigan, described as follows, to wit:

Lot 6, Smith's Addition to the City of Benton Harbor, according to the Plat thereof, recorded November 20, 1915 in Volume 3 of Plats, page 49, Berrien County Records.

Lot 9, Block 1, E.M. Mills Empire addition to City of Benton Harbor, according to the plat thereof, recorded September 6, 1913 in Volume 3 of Plats, page 29, Berrien County Records.

The redemption period, pursuant to law, is six (6) months from the time of such sale.

to bear in order to use such a facility, we must consider the unnecessary and expensive repeat diagnostic tests the patient would have to undergo if referred to a Kalamazoo facility.

Yet I do not believe that cost should be the controlling factor. What is more important is the comprehensive critical care of patients in our community. To attain this, we need to continually improve our medical facilities, not to give them away.

We must also consider the effect of distance. Patients in need of an open heart surgery unit may be reluctant to leave home and put their faith in an unfamiliar hospital and unfamiliar doctors. Also, the emotional support of one's family is very important to a heart patient. The distance to Kalamazoo would certainly reduce this much-needed family communication. To be in a hospital alone and far from home would be a terrifying experience for a heart patient.

The proposal to remove the open heart surgery unit from Mercy Hospital is only one part of the Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency plan. Such a poorly conceived recommendation causes me to wonder what else maybe in the plan that the public should be aware of.

CITY CHILDREN NEED MORE LOVE

Editor:

Needed: Love not Hate.
City kids come to school with as much basic ability as suburban kids, but there is a lot of difference in the amount of self-discipline they bring. Failing further and further behind academically as the years go by stems from inner-city students inability to attend to matters beyond self. They cannot listen to what someone else, like a teacher, is telling them because they're so preoccupied with fighting for survival. Immediate needs take precedence over postponing gratification. Being told they should do their best now so they can succeed as adults falls on deaf ears.

The parents in the city are as anxious as any to see their children do well in school. They know education is a stepping-stone out of poverty. But the parents do not seem to realize that sending to their children, giving their individual, loving attention for a part of each day is the way to prepare their children for listening in school so they'll learn to follow directions. We all had to follow directions at one time in order to decode our language to read and to compute.

Someone has to care a lot to produce useful citizens.

HE'S FOR FATHERS AND STRIKERS

Editor:

On page 3 of the November 21 issue of the Herald-Palladium was an article by staff writer, Scott Williamson, regarding the November 22 meeting of the Berrien County Board of Commissioners. In column 4 it states "in other action, the board passed a resolution urging the state legislature to pass a bill excluding from unemployment benefits, fathers whose unemployment results from participation in a labor dispute, or those who are unemployed because of misconduct. Stacey said the resolution is aimed at strikers whose benefits are paid by taxpayers."

If this is accurately reported, why fathers? Does the board consist of single men and females seeking to exempt themselves from the resolution? I have been on strike from Everett Piano Co., for more than seven weeks and no one has drawn an unemployment check yet. Are things different in Berrien County?

Mr. Stacey implies that unemployment benefits are paid out of a general fund rather than a special payroll tax on employers.

Furthermore Mr. Stacey, and the board, should remember that strikers are taxpayers. They own or rent homes. They do not get out of paying taxes that I know about just because they are on strike. Strikers are not people trying to get something for nothing. They are the people you sit next to in church. They may be some of your best customers in your businesses. They may also be policemen, firemen, or perhaps a nurse or your child's teacher.

The board should consider the fact that one of them could very well be (even if unwilling) walking a picket line some time. Believe me, things look different on the other side of that line.

Remember employers and employees are both taxpayers and neither one can exist without the other. The board should not suggest any advantage for either side in a labor dispute.

I think Mr. Stacey is uninformed or misinformed, or could it be your reporting?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The reporting was accurate.

READER SOUNDS OFF ON L.W.Y. SESSIONS

Editor:

I note with interest your extensive L.W.Y. coverage in Houston, Nov. 19, 1977, while not mentioning the Pro-Family, Anti-ERA meeting in Houston, Nov. 19, 1977, which had registration of 11,000 compared to L.W.Y.'s 8,000.

Here are some facts regarding L.W.Y. meetings on the Michigan level:

(1) Mrs. Bernice Zilly was the only person to represent Michigan citizens for Life, Stop ERA, Life-Span, National Council of Catholic Women, There was no representative from Happiness of Womankind, Daughters of American Revolution, Church Women United, and many other church groups, or Eagle Forum. Yet the Federal Advisory Committee Act specifically states diverse opinions shall be a reason for an advisory committee. Sec. 5 (b) (2) requires the advisory committee membership to be fairly balanced in terms of the point of view represented. Of 28 named members, 19 were named to an executive committee which met once a month, one week before the coordinating committee and at which majority of work was done. Mrs. Zilly was not named to the executive committee (was it because her views were known?).

(2) Mrs. Zilly asked to serve on program committee but was put on facilities and then bypassed when decisions were made. The program chairperson appointed "Convenors" of topics and gave them free reign to choose their panel (panel members were not announced until day of meeting when registrants entered the workshops). "Teenage Pregnancy" for instance was run by a former woman senator (state) who had pleaded for abortion legalization in 1972. No mention was made of natural family planning.

(3) At first plenary session, the delegates had no vote on rules. The body was not allowed to amend or vote approval of the rules. It was reported the standing rules of order had been "adopted" by Michigan Coordinating Committee for the International Women's Year meeting and will be effective for the entire Pro-Family: Michigan Women Conference.

Also, the participants were told the rules had been approved by the national committee and could not be changed. That is not so. The rules were never read at a meeting of Mt. Coordinating Committee. Only one rule was discussed and that had to do with "nominations from the floor". It was agreed by consensus that one hour would be

NO JOKE: Comedian Dick Gregory reacts to questions during news conference in Boston Tuesday where Gregory announced plans to commence three-week tour fast to call attention to plight of blacks in South Africa. allowed for nominations from the floor after the chairperson of nominations had given her report. However, the rule in the printed program for participants read: "One hour shall be allotted for the report of the nominating committee and nominations from the floor."

At second plenary session, which considered resolutions, a whole new set of rules were read and amendments and approval were asked for. Of course, it was then too late for nominations from the floor. Michigan was not the only state to experience activities different from the printed National L.W.Y. rules for state meetings. Sept. 14-15, 1977, U.S. Senator Jesse Helms held hearings on L.W.Y. state meetings. At these hearings, Mrs. H. Priestor of Honolulu, Hawaii, testified about a meeting at Hawaii's L.W.Y. titled "Coming Together" which was a one hour stage show before 1,600 women and their families in which four lesbian garbed women performed skits of lesbian love making.

If any of the aforementioned upsets you, please let Congressman Stockman, 921 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, and Senators Riegle and Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510, know. Because Congress already gave $50 million dollars for these shenanigans and they're expected, by a vocal group, to give more. Speak now or never have the chance!

Eric Sevareid Bows Out

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Now and then I get this odd dream. In it, Eric Sevareid arrives at his podium on the CBS Evening News, clears his throat, and says: "I can't figure it out, either."

For years, this shy, scholarly North Dakotan has given millions of viewers the impression he's got the whole thing doped out, an impression he probably would be the first to deny.

It all ends tonight, though. CBS says he's doing his last nightly think piece for the network. He's leaving the ranks of the regulars. He turned 65 last Friday, an age CBS ink is taken off active duty.

Sevareid, a University of Minnesota graduate and a reporter since age 18, has been on active duty with CBS a while — since 1939.

In that year, he was in France, reporting for both the old Paris Herald and United Press. A call from London changed his life.

The call was from CBS' Edward R. Murrow, who was in the process of forming his famed band of scholar-journalists to cover the coming war in Europe through the young medium of radio.

Sevareid signed up, in time gaining a measure of fame reporting the fall of France. And he's been a broadcast journalist ever since, both as a reporter and play-by-play analyst of history.

After he bids adieu to that tonight, he'll still be with CBS as a consultant, the network says, but it isn't known yet if he'll have a successor on the CBS Evening News.

He'll also start work soon as a narrator of a new syndicated TV series, "Between the Wars," which studies the period 1918-41, according to the sponsor, Mobil Oil Corp.

As a distinguished survivor of the old Murrow gang and the resident brooder, muller and ponderer of the evening news for more than a decade, Sevareid's impending sign-off isn't unnoticed, of course.

It was announced almost a year ago. And in recent weeks, he's been deluged by calls from scribes seeking words on What It All Means and maybe a quick analysis of the crises and pitfalls west.

To some, he's offered a few reflections. To others, myself included, he's sent a message that in translation comes out: "No dice."

I can sympathize. He may be all reflected-out by now. But on Dec. 13, you'll be able to see him in a TV conversation with Charles Kuralt on C-Net. The show was taped earlier this fall.

Canal Treaty Volunteers Are Outmatched -- So Far

By WALTER H. MEARS

AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) —

They've got the White House,

the Pentagon, Gerald R. Ford and even John Wayne on their side — but so far, volunteer lobbyists for the Panama Canal

conservative opposition.

That unequal match doesn't necessarily foretell the outcome of the eventual Senate vote to approve or reject U.S.

agreement to relinquish control of the canal in the year 2000.

opposition is far ahead.

"We believe that this is a reversible issue," said John O.

Marsh Jr., once a top Ford aide, now a leader of the Committee of Americans for the

Canal Treaty, headed by

Marsh and S. Lee Kling, a former Democratic Party

the same thing.

"President Ford, we believe,

Marsh added that treaty backers need to gain support

"from the crossroads of America," where the average man dwells.

They spoke the other day, about as far as you can get from sawdust or crossroads. It was a scintilla luncheon at an exclusive

Washington club for a delegation of about 20 civic, business and communications leaders bound for Panama to meet with Panamanian and U.S. officials.

Angier Biddle Duke, the former U.S. ambassador to Spain and a leader of the Ci-vilizens Task Force on Panama, said each member of the group contributed $1,000 to pay for the mission.

They will, presumably, return to spread the word in behalf of the treaty. The Committee of Americans for the

Canal Treaty, headed by

Marsh and S. Lee Kling, a

former Democratic Party

finance director, is trying to do

the same thing.

will be an active spokesman," said Marsh. Ford is one of the people featured in spot radio

the committee is sending to its supporters, seeking to have them broadcast on public service time. So is Wayne.

The Conservative Caucus is

too, for spot announcements taken from Ronald Reagan's

Senate testimony against the treaty.

But the heart of the opposition lobbying effort is a massive

financed by a coalition of conservative groups. They had been at work for months when the committee for the treaties

breakfast at the White House.

And there's more to it than mailing. It also is a matter of advice. The opponents get the jump there, too, by starting their campaign from the bottom

up, with mass mailings arranged by Richard A.

Vigiarie, the conservatives'

fundraiser.

In its kit of instructions to treaty supporters, the pro-treaty committee notes:

"Senate members have been inundated with mail against

however, is not of an individualized nature. That is,

there are mass-produced letters

great number of postcards. A personal letter from you to your

Perhaps, but in Senate

mailrooms, the letters pro and

analyzed.

So the conservatives have an emotional issue, an easy slogan

— "giveaway" — and a game

maximum pressure.

ation, trying to get their message

from the top.
